Government Plagued By Labor Woes

Oil Strike Threat Blamed As Military Supports Executive

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Arturo Frondizi crushed an attempted palace coup Wednesday night and oil workers postponed a nationwide strike.

The threatened strike had sparked the political crisis. The oil workers are opposing a government plan to get foreign help in developing Argentina's nationalized oil industry.

The coup was led by Vice President Alejandro Gomez, according to official reports. He denied it. Deputies and senators of the ruling Intransigent Radical party early today called for his resignation. His impeachment by Congress was threatened.

Supported By Military — As Frondizi struggled to solve the labor unrest which has caused a crisis endangering his 6-month-old regime, Argentina's powerful armed forces rallied to support the embattled chief executive.

Gomez, a tough politician, had claimed military and political support for a move to form a national coalition movement.

Frondizi, weakened by a bout with flu but buoyed by a swift vote of confidence from his military forces, ordered his ministers to make a supreme effort to settle a strike of oil workers in Mendoza Province.

This strike, which started two weeks ago, is paralyzing the rich oilfields in Mendoza at the foot of the Andes Mountains.

Frondizi called the Mendoza strike a Communist-inspired insurrection and declared Argentina under a state of siege Tuesday. Hundreds of Communists, Peronistas and others were arrested.

Communist-Inspired — Frondizi crushed the coup bid with the support of the secretaries of the army, navy and air force, and surrounded the government palace with armed guards.

His administration gained a breathing spell when the oil workers at 2 a.m. put off for 96 hours their 48-hour nationwide strike which was to start last midnight.

Labor bosses agreed to huddle again with Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo who played a key role in putting down the Gomez attempt and keeping Frondizi on top.

Nova Scotia Mines Closed — SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP) — The 7,000 residents of this hard-coal town today faced a bleak future without the $60,000 weekly payroll from mining.

The Dominion Coal Co. announced Wednesday night it had decided not to reopen the mines which have been Springhill's lifeblood for 125 years. The decision followed the second mine disaster in two years.

"This looks like the knockout blow," Mayor Ralph Gilroy said. "Dominion's No. 4 colliery was closed after an explosion in 1956 caused 39 deaths. An underground upheaval in adjacent No. 2 colliery on Oct. 23 killed 74 men."

No. 2 was the only industry in Springhill. Miners drew their last wages Nov. 1.

Man Forgers Way To Jail To Get Material For Book — SEATTLE (AP) — "Art is a living thing," the intense young man said. "For anyone to create anything artistic, he must have lived it."

The words came slowly from William G. Gates as he explained that his artistic goal is a novel with prison life as its background. Gates was sitting in the Seattle City Jail. He literally had asked to go to prison, choosing forgery as his passport.

Det. T. C. Jorgensen of the Seattle police chief detail arrested Gates, 27, Wednesday afternoon. Gates quickly admitted in a signed statement he was the forger of about $100 in bum checks.

Talking with reporters, Gates said he calculated the amount he obtained through the worthless checks would get him about a year in the penitentiary. That's the time, he says he needs to complete his education and get the necessary background for his novel.

Gates said he felt that forgery was the least harmful way to get to prison.

"It doesn't cause anyone physical pain," he said, "and those to whom I dropped the checks could well afford it."

Gates graduated from Yakima (Wash.) Valley Junior College and spent a year studying psychology at the University of Washington. He said he had been planning his move for years.

Strike Looms Soon In Soft Coal Industry

UMW Allegedly Seeks To Stop Operators' Non-Union Activities

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The possibility of a strike, the first in nine years, loomed today in the soft coal industry because of a reported demand by the United Mine Workers that big coal operators stop handling non-union coal.

However, Edward G. Fox, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association (BCOA), said in Washington neither he nor the association had yet received a strike threat from United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis.

It was reported here, where top officials of the BCOA met Wednesday, that the UMW chief would serve a 60-day notice of termination of the present contract Dec. 1.

Fox huddled with 14 other soft coal operators association officials in a secret meeting. After he returned to the capital, Fox said they discussed "everything in general" — including the question of non-union coal.

Soft coal miners now are working under an open contract, signed in 1950, which provides that either party may end the pact by serving 60-day notice.

The UMW was reported to have demanded that coal firms with contracts with the union refuse to use or sell non-union coal. The provision would apply to producers who operate union mines but sell non-union coal.

The giant coal union also sought to bring under the same provisions electric utility firms which operate "captive" mines under a UMW contract but go on the open market to buy non-union coal instead of working their own mines.

Meanwhile, anthracite operators, faced with possible demands for a $1 a ton payment to the UMW welfare fund, are looking to an early start on new contract negotiations.

Nixon Gives Talk Of Non-Political Nature In Sleep — MIAMI (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a hard-hitting political campaigner when awake, makes non-political speeches in his sleep, a dentist reported today.

Nixon was given a drug called "nervol," described as a form of so-called "truth serum," Wednesday as anesthetic for the extraction of an infected wisdom tooth.

The two dentists in attendance reported that Nixon made a speech after the extraction, while the anesthetic was wearing off.

"He told me to shut up," she recalled.

Bodies of Jensen and his date, Carol King, were found in a storm cave.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Carl Ann Fugate says she pleaded with killer Charles Starkweather to spare 2 of his 11 admitted murder victims last January.

"He told me to shut up," she recalled.

Carl's first-hand account of part of the Starkweather killing spree was delivered Wednesday to a jury hearing the 15-year-old brunette's trial for murder.

She is charged with aiding and abetting Starkweather in the slaying of Bonnet, Neb., schoolboy Robert Jensen last Jan. 27. Starkweather is under death sentence for the killing.

U. S. Offers Atomic Pact To Russians

Nuclear Test Ban, Police System Cited In Geneva Proposal

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States, in a new move to break the present Geneva deadlock, today offered the Soviet Union a treaty for an East-West ban on nuclear tests and a control system to police it.

A draft of the treaty was handed to the Soviets by U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth when the bogged-down East-West conference on ending nuclear tests met for its eighth formal session.

The conference recessed until next Monday to give the Russians time to study it.

Block Renewed Attack — The U.S. move to break the current deadlock in the nuclear ban talks came a few hours after a renewed frontal attack on the West by the Communist bloc in the other East-West Geneva conference now underway — the parity on prevention of surprise attacks.

The surprise attacks meeting also is deadlocked over its agenda and showed no signs of progress today.

The U.S. offer came after the Communist bloc renewed its frontal attack on the West. It was another phase of a Soviet cold war campaign believed aimed at trying to force the West into a new summit session.

Poland and Romania, following the lead set Wednesday by Russia, sharply attacked the Western powers and called for scrapping of nuclear weapons and the holding of East-West disarmament talks.

Firm's Head Kills Wildcat Strike Chief — CHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Sale police said the president of a company being picketed today shot and killed an organizer leading a wildcat strike.

They said Malcolm White shot Alfred F. Dugan, an organizer for the Interstate Industrial Union, an independent union affiliated with the National Independent Union Council of Jersey City, N.J.

Circumstances of the killing at the Chester Cable Corp. were not immediately disclosed by the police.

It was learned the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, has represented the 140 workers in the Orange County plant, but that 85 workers petitioned the National Labor Relations Board last September for a new election.

A strike started Monday, but the plant continued to operate with employees not supporting Dugan's union. The company is a division of the Miami Copper Corp.

Worst Fire In History Batters Gallipolis, Ohio — GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (UPI) — The worst fire in this southern Ohio city's history today destroyed a four-story department store building and a combination shoe-shine and pool hall building, and for a time threatened the business district.

Seven children were reported killed today when fire swept the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Gammons in Fort Wayne.

Police and firemen said the victims were all children of the Gammons couple.

Gammons, his wife, Audrey, and a daughter, Connie Sue, 3 or 4 years old, survived the flames, authorities said.

To decide who would marry her they agreed to a steak-duel. Whoever ate the most steaks would win her.

As an appetizer each ate his way through three plates of spaghetti, a roasted chicken, 20 sausages, ten hard-boiled eggs and a plate of cakes.

Then they tackled their steak. Di Battista was declared the winner three hours later, after gulping down the last mouthful of his 16th steak. Caserta gave up after the 15th.

But last reports were that the schoolteacher refused to honor the bet.

She apparently was scared at the idea of having to cook for such a voracious rumbler.

UAW Walkout At Harvester Plants Begins

Chrysler New Car Output Paralyzed By Office Worker Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — A strike of some 36,500 United Auto Workers Union employees today shut down International Harvester Co. plants throughout the nation.

Picket lines were reported orderly as the strike went off at 7 a.m. local time, in 15 plants.

Efforts to avert the walkout failed Wednesday night, after federal mediators met with management and labor officials.

Union and management representatives planned another session today.

The UAW gave the go-ahead for the strike after the company rejected a union package proposal for a new contract to replace the one which expired Aug. 1. Since that date UAW members have continued to work under an extension of the old contract.

Chrysler Paralyzed — DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. automobile production was paralyzed today by a strike of 8,000 office workers represented by the United Auto Workers Union.

The strike grew out of failure to arrive at a new contract.

Picket lines forced Chrysler to close all eight assembly plants. Chrysler said 17 supplier plants remained in operation, some of them only partly.

A total of 48,000 workers were idled by the strike.

Chrysler has a total of about 95,000 employees, 70,000 of them members of the UAW. Most of the Chrysler automotive operation is in the Detroit area.

Missile Program Advance Noted

Swiss Storing Food Supplies

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss government called upon the nation's householders today to strengthen the country's defenses by stocking up on foodstuffs and other essentials.

The Department for Economic Defense has issued similar appeals in the past when local wars, tension and crises shook Swiss confidence in the postwar peace.

Chinese Red Shells Thump Islands Again — TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Communists resumed sporadic shelling of the Quemoy Islands today, continuing their day-on, day-off schedule.

The Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry said Red coastal batteries around Amoy lobbed 250 shells at the Quemoy islets to noon.

This followed the pattern of Communist firing on odd-numbered days of the month and no shelling on even days. Wednesday was the sixth even day without shelling.

In Taipei, Adm. Herbert G. Hopwood, commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, called on President Chiang Kai-shek. Gen. Wang Shu-ming, Nationalist chief of staff, attended.

Hopwood arrived Tuesday for a week-long inspection of American and Chinese naval installations and a trip to the U.S. 7th Fleet guarding Formosa waters.

The Defense Ministry continued to report intense Communist military preparations in coastal areas facing the Quemoy islets.

Man Who Will Never Sit Down Goes Home — WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Harry Bilz, who never will sit down again, is headed home from the hospital today after his third operation.

Bilz is the Colwich, Kan., salesman who attracted national attention a few weeks ago when he appeared at a state safety conference. A year ago, his sports car hit a stalled truck near Colwich. The ball and socket joint in his right hip was shattered beyond repair.

Surgeons told Bilz he'll be able to walk, perch on a high stool and lie almost normally in bed.

Grains Weak — CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices opened weak today on the Board of Trade.

Deaf Mute Brothers To Die Unless Clemency Approved — COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Two brothers will die in the electric chair Friday, unless they get a reprieve, in what is believed would be the first execution of deaf mutes in Ohio history.

Bert, 17, and Joseph Buza, 21, convicted of first degree murder in the stabbing of an elderly gas station owner, waited in death row while their family and counsel sought a clemency decision from Gov. C. William O'Neill.

The two have occupied side-by-side cells in Ohio Penitentiary for one year. They were convicted by a Belmont County jury Nov. 15, 1957 and began their sentence one day later.

If clemency is denied, the brothers' death will mark Ohio's second double execution of the year, and second in the last 13 years.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said that to the best of his knowledge they are the first deaf persons ever placed in Ohio's death row.

Defense attorneys have urged that the brothers, convicted of the slaying of Mrs. Margaret Denham, 76, on April 10, 1957, should receive only life sentences on the basis of their disability.

This view is also taken by Dr. Edward Abernathy, superintendent of the Ohio deaf school.

The brothers, although well-behaved, lead an uneventful existence. Some prison religious officials feel the Buzas are unaware of "what it's all about."

Aim Of Plan Neutralizing Of Germany

If Successful, Russ Would Be In Position Unassailable Power

LONDON (AP) — Russia and her Communist friends are shaping up a strong new diplomatic offensive in Europe with the ultimate aim of neutralizing a reunited Germany, Western diplomats have concluded.

This seems to be the real meaning behind three related moves in the Communist capitals of Warsaw, Moscow and East Berlin.

The Communist proposals would bring about a disengagement of East-West forces in mid-Europe, liquidation of the four-power occupation regime in Berlin and withdrawal of Russian and Western forces from Germany.

Unassailable Power — The United States, Britain, France and their Atlantic Pact allies today were reported satisfied that fulfillment of these aims would leave Russia in a position of almost unassailable power in Europe. It would spell the beginning of the end of the Atlantic Alliance.

Here is the emerging pattern of the Communist offensive: In Warsaw last week — Poland modified her plan for banning nuclear weapons in her own territory, Czechoslovakia and East and West Germany. The Poles sought to meet past Western objections to their disengagement project by allowing for cutbacks of conventional forces in both sides. They also provided that American and Russian forces in their zones temporarily could keep nuclear weapons.

Tries To Sell Scheme — Polish Deputy Foreign Minister Marian Naszkowski is in Geneva presumably hoping to sell the scheme at East-West talks on preventing surprise attack. But the Allies have no intention now of buying it or any other disengagement proposals. They consider that missile-age strategy demands defense in depth. East of the Iron Curtain the Russians have the depth, west of it the Allies have much less room.

In Moscow Monday — Soviet Premier Nikhruchev, called for an end of the four-power occupation regime in Berlin and said the Russians themselves would quit the city as an occupying power anyway.

The Russians hope to force the West into doing limited business with the East Germans on day-to-day matters like traffic, communications, customs, and thus into at least a limited recognition of the puppet regime.

In East Berlin Wednesday — Communist Premier Otto Grotewohl indicated that negotiations with Russia may lead to a withdrawal of Russian troops from East Germany.

Atlas Firing Strikes Snag — CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Launching of a powerful Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile was called off early today when the firing crew ran into technical trouble during the countdown.

The 85-ton, biggest missile in the U. S. arsenal, sparked in the rays of floodlights for several hours before the scrub was called.

The Air Force declined to elaborate on the technical difficulties encountered, but announced the shoot probably would be rescheduled soon.

The 100-ton Atlas blew up on its last launching Sept. 19. That was the first attempt to shoot the two-million-dollar rocket the complete 6,326-mile intercontinental range.

Auto Industry Will Have All 1959 Line Models On Market This Week

By DAVID J. WELKE
A.P. Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry will have all its regular 1959 line cars on the market this week. Studebaker-Packard presents its smaller Lark series on Friday.

Still to come is an addition to the Ford line—the Galaxie. It is scheduled for dealer introduction early next month.

Public reaction to the Lark series will get industrywide attention. Studebaker-Packard's hopes of remaining in the automobile business will ride in the Lark. To a significant degree the Lark, in several body styles and with six or eight cylinder engines, will disclose how great is the demand for smaller, more economical automobiles.

So far the growing demand for smaller, lower priced cars has been met by imported vehicles and American Motors. With its Rambler series American Motors has been the only car maker to build and sell more cars this year than it did in 1957.

The Galaxie will be the top priced car in the Ford division line. Its price has not been disclosed, but many industry analysts regard it as designed to compete with Chevrolet's Impala series.

Expanded for 1959 to include a four-door sedan and a four-door hardtop, the Impala series carries suggested factory list prices ranging from $2,592 for the 6-cylinder four-door sedan to $2,967 for the V-8 convertible. The Galaxie borrows much of its styling from the Ford Thunderbird and the Continental Mark IV.

The Thunderbird introduced, initially as a single-seat, two-passenger car was redesigned to seat four passengers. It has been one of the hottest cars in the Ford line. Ford built 42,233 Thunderbirds in the first 10 months of 1958 against 14,010 in the similar 1957 period.

Studebaker-Packard has not had so much of the industry spotlight in many years. Concentrating mainly on the smaller Lark series, it has discontinued the Packard line and other models in the comment from industry chroniclers that the Silver Hawk series who drove various models in the S-P national press preview series is being continued for 1959. In the S-P national press preview series is being continued for 1959. In the S-P national press preview series is being continued for 1959.

This is the view taken by Harry E. Churchill, Studebaker-Packard president. Those who share his view say the demand for the smaller cars is broad enough for both American Motors and Studebaker-Packard. They are not equally certain it is big enough for those two companies plus General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Wife Puzzled By Mate Pulling Armed Robbery

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—Mrs. Russell Edgar Parker aimlessly caressed an empty coffee cup, puzzled by the question which had tormented her for sleepless hours.

"I know people are asking why an officer with a fine record would do this thing," she said. "I cannot answer them. I simply cannot."

Her husband, a 40-year-old Army major from Laurel, Miss., was shot and killed Monday night as he fled with $568 he had stolen in a holdup at a downtown Kansas City movie theater. The decorated veteran of World War II and Korea was shot by the theater manager.

The Parkers came to Ft. Leavenworth from Corbin, Ky., in August and he was taking a 10-month course at the Army's Command and General Staff College. They lived in the upstairs of a private home in Leavenworth. They have no children.

"I have no idea . . . There was no hint . . . that anything was so desperately wrong," said Mrs. Parker. "He seemed to be in good health. He seemed to be in good health."

"He was happy-go-lucky in a way, but he took his studies seriously. He was determined to do well. I wanted to help him. I had no outside activities."

The course he was taking is sometimes called the "pressure cooker."

An Army spokesman said Maj. Parker may have worried about financial problems. He had helped pay heavy medical expenses incurred recently by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Parker in Laurel.

In 1928, a sales tax was in use in only two states of the Union.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union for ever—MORRIS.

Super-Confidence

PERHAPS THE greatest danger to peace today is the super-confidence of the Red Chinese. Their resumption of the shelling of the offshore islands right at the moment hopes were rising for a successful settlement of that issue was a perfect example of their cockiness. It is clear from John Strohm's articles on Communist China that much of this attitude stems from false notions the Peking government has dreamed up about the United States and spread among the Chinese people. They declare again and again that the U. S. is militarily weak and would be crushed in any combat with Red China. And they dare to say that they won the Korean war. That war, of course, was begun by the Communist North Koreans against the free South Koreans. We leaped into the conflict to halt the Red advance and then drove the North Koreans almost to the Manchurian Chinese border.

AT THIS POINT large masses of Chinese forces entered the fray, took advantage of the surprise element and pushed our divided armies back below the border between North and South Korea. Once again, United Nations armies led by the United States slowly began punching northward. In grinding, bloody battles, they got the Chinese out of South Korea and slashed toward North Korea's capital. It was at this juncture, in late June of 1951, that the Chinese called for a truce. In the next two painful years of negotiating, the combat lines swayed and bent but for the most part remained where they had been—well into North Korean territory—when the truce talks began. That same line is the present divider between the two parts.

IN OTHER WORDS, when the cry went up from the Reds to stop fighting, it was the West, not they, which was winning the war. Furthermore, we wound up on North Korean soil which was beyond our original objective. That we did not try a second time to go all the way to the Korean-Chinese border reflected high-level American decision that this long line could not be easily reached and then defended without almost prohibitive burdens of cost and effort upon the U. S. people. Nevertheless it is quite plain the Reds did not win the Korean war. For the sake of world peace we have to hope it is evident to them, in their saner moments, that they could not win any new conflict with the United States.

'Inner' Space, Too

OUTER SPACE is the thing today, no doubt of it. We've got a federal space agency. We're busy exploring the outer reaches, and experimenting with human beings under simulated space conditions. But before we get too far into this, let's not forget about inner space—the stuff we're supposed to have on earth. With this so-called population explosion scattering more and more people in more and more places, it's getting difficult in some spots to find space to call your own. Maybe we need an inner as well as an outer space agency. All the outfits having to do with spreading out the big cities could be put under it; highways and housing, too. In places like New York, where jostling and elbow-fabbing are accepted, like the rising sun, we might have to have some experiments to get citizens accustomed to living with a bigger "space cushion." For a starter, somebody might build a glass-enclosed sidewalk with only 10 people to the block instead of the usual 500 or more. Risky, though. New Yorkers might be lonely. You can even get to miss a poke in the ribs every 10 steps.

The Root Cause

VICE PRESIDENT Nixon attributes the G.O. defeat to the fact that Republicans didn't campaign long enough or hard enough. Many Republicans in congress blame Secretary of Agriculture Benson, and state party chairmen blame apathy. If anyone in the party gets around to blaming the voter, that will about cover the situation.

A CENTURY-OLD letter found here in Maryland predicted both radio and airplanes. The letter was written by a telephone industry pioneer, which prompts us to suggest that this may be one of the longest long distance connections on record.

Nelson Rockefeller Takes Slap At Nixon

WASHINGTON — What could prove to be the most significant quote of the next two years, politically speaking, bears the dateline of Maquetta Airport, Caracas, Venezuela. This is the airport which broke into the world news last year when Venezuelans greeted Vice-President Richard M. Nixon there with sticks and stones.

Early this week Governor-elect Nelson Rockefeller of New York landed at Maquetta in the small hours to begin a post-election vacation at his nearby cattle ranch. For 30 minutes he delayed his departure for the ranch to talk with reporters and shake hands with the several hundred well-wishers who cheered his arrival.

The inevitable question regarding the contrast between his reception and Nixon's arose. To it Rockefeller replied in Spanish: "I have nothing to do with Nixon."

IT IS POSSIBLE, of course, that the new Republican luminary felt that he was a long way from New York and Washington, as indeed he was, so did not need to choose his words with breakfast-at-the-Waldorf finesse. But he could hardly have been unaware of Maquetta's claim to fame and the fact that comparisons, however odious they might be, were bound to be made, now that he has won control of the biggest state.

Actually, he has from the start shown an extreme awareness of the news angles in politics. One of his first acts after reaching the decision to run for Governor was to hire a special press secretary, Richard Amper, a New York Times reporter who has long covered the state Legislature. Amper made the journey to Caracas with him.

THE ATTENTION paid to his initial failure to greet Vice-President Nixon on Nixon's arrival to promote the New York ticket underscored for Rockefeller the relative positions in the party. Despite the Waldorf breakfast afterward and the polite exchange of compliments between the two men, Rockefeller did not appear at a political meeting with Nixon. The Governor-elect exercised almost equal care in his contacts with President Eisenhower. He met the President on arrival in New York, but his partisan appearances with him were confined to groups of party workers, not extended to public occasions where independent and Democratic voters might look on. This kind of thing doesn't happen by accident; it takes organization.

ROCKEFELLER continues to stress that he only wants to be a good Governor. This is the indicated step in the Presidential minute for the beginner. Such remarks belong in the file with those interviews President Eisenhower used to grant American correspondents at SHAPE outside Paris in 1951 and early 1952.

With some bitterness, Nixon's friends suggest that the Governor-elect could have gone other places than Venezuela for his post-election rest. The news stories describe the ranch there as only one of his several homes and he could, of course, afford to take in Averell Harriman's Sun Valley if it had pleased him to rub it in.

Budget Chief Honest Big Game Hunter

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Budget Bureau Director Maurice H. Stans got himself in condition for adding up the billions it will take to run the federal government next year by going to Africa to hunt bongo. He didn't get one.

This is probably the highest testimonial that could be given to establish public confidence in the character of the man who heads the budget bureau. It shows he's honest.

He didn't even bring back a story about the big bongo that got away. After a hard fight.

Mrs. Stans accompanied her husband on this safari.

They spent one week in the Kenya northern frontier, another week in the Mara river national park area, then ten days on the slopes of Mt. Kenya, 8,000 to 10,000 feet up, looking for bongo.

With a white hunter and ten native bearers, they tracked a number, saw one at a distance, but never got within range.

Then Stans got bitten by a tick, contracted fever and, spent the last four days in a Nairobi hospital.

"THIS ISN'T the way Hemingway and Ruark write it, but this is the way the honest Mr. Stans tells it."

An African bongo, he says, is the rarest and most elusive of all antelopes. A bongo bull weighs 400 to 500 pounds and stands four feet at the shoulder.

It lives in forests so dense as to be almost impenetrable.

To make matters worse for the hunter, the bongo is a night feeder. The only time to see him is at dawn or in dirty weather.

Only three Americans have shot a bongo. One was Kormik Roosevelt, in 1911. Stans decided to go after bongo as the result of a kind of challenge from Judge Russell E. Train of the U.S. tax court. Judge Train went after his bongo last July, but he didn't get one, too. So the Stans went.

Mr. and Mrs. Stans did make a number of other good kills. The specimens they brought back will be stuffed and mounted for presentation to the Children's Nature Museum, at Rock Hill, S. C.

MRS. STANS had gone with her husband on their two earlier African hunts, in 1948 and 1950. He says she likes to shoot some of the clothes she wears. She has a leopard skin coat, a colobus monkey cape, zebra hat, shoes and purse, a lion skin handbag and an elephant ear-handbag.

This year, Mr. Stans shot a gerenuk, which is a small antelope with a long neck. It never drinks water but gets its moisture on the leaves that it eats.

He also got an onyx, which should delight scabbard fans and a lesser kudu, which is smaller than a greater kudu. And he got a Grevy zebra, which has very narrow stripes.

Other animals which Mr. Stans has killed and presented to the Children's Museum include lion, leopard, buffalo, kongoni, topi, kipspringer, zebra, several gazelles, and the tusks of a six-ton elephant he shot.

He has bagged both the eland, which is the largest of the antelopes, weighing up to 1,100 pounds, and the dik-dik, which is the smallest antelope, no bigger than a jackrabbit and weighing only six pounds.

THE IDEAL safari should last about two months, says Mr. Stans. But he wasn't able to get away for that long since he started working for the government. He served as deputy postmaster general before going to budget bureau. In private life, he is head of Alexander-Grant & Co., a Chicago accounting firm he went to work for in 1928.

Mr. Stans wears a wide wrist watch band made of elephant ear hide, and another amulet of braided elephant tail hairs—the badge of the African hunting fraternity.

There are four other Washingtonians he knows who are entitled to wear this insignia. They are Judge Train, Burke Summers, Rep. Ralph Scott and Ed Swing, former counsel of the General Services Administration.

For the next couple of months Mr. Stans will be squinting his hunter's eye and sighting his guns against the elusive bongo budget billions in the wilds of Washington bureaucracy.

DUST STORM—What local observers declared was a "dust storm" blew over the downtown section of the city this afternoon. Minute particles of dust of a yellowish hue hung as a fog over Cumberland, and there was a distinct presence of dust in the business section. The storm came from the west and was believed the tail-end of a disturbance.

REPORT GIVEN—At the annual meeting of the Cumberland Welfare Federation in City Hall, President Harvey H. Weiss announced that nearly $100,000 has been expended for unemployment, welfare work relief of the destitute, needy and sick during the last year in Cumberland.

SNOW HITS CITY—Snow is general in this territory, but here it has been melting as it hits the ground. Four plows have been working on the Oakland road.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—Don't believe all you read, however welcome it might be to you, about the dying out of the hoop craze. The hoop, as just a hoop, is dying out as a fad. But variations on the theme have been dreamed up and the manufacturers see bonanza ahead for months.

First, the craze is beginning to invade Europe, which means that millions of the high density polyethylene circles will be going there, and second, the major song on the subject, "The Hula Hoop Song," is reported to be the (tune becoming No. 1 in Europe in a variety of languages.

Also, here at home, new ideas and projections will keep the kids (and some added adults) spinning for months. One: a Hoop Head, involving the use of a hoop attached to the top of a skull cap is going out to the trade at 100,000 units a day.

THE NATIONAL Recreation Association, no less, has issued a pamphlet establishing that one's health can be improved by gyrating inside a hoop. There have been between 32 and 36 million hoops made for this country and it is estimated that European sales will top 29,000,000.

If you or your moppel are sick and tired of plain hoops, you now can get a larial hoop, a hoop roller, a flying saucer hoop, a drum hoop, a target hoop or a hoop jump rope. Also, heaven help us all and the hone-sellers, too, there is a do-it-yourself hoop, a luminescent hoop for after-dark gyrations and a lawn shower hoop for next summer.

It is a little astonishing that Bill Boyd hasn't got into the act with a Hoop-Along Cassidy hoop.

OUR COUNTRY, for some reason never exactly clear except that in all these generations away from Europe's love for titles and official status we have not escaped the love of pomp, goes in for some fairly odd pumping up of individual status. Thus, men-tending bellers are called stationery engineers. And there are dozens of others.

A simple, charming and always interesting man died out our way the other day. He had a lot of friends and among them were some people with a lot of money. But they couldn't let him die as the simple, unaffected man he was. His obituary in the local papers described him as having been "an assembler of leather goods."

WELL, HE WAS that, of course, but it would not have hurt him or shamed his family to tell the exact truth: He was a sitcher in a wallet factory. Why do we always have to dudge up the truths of life?

In another part of the East a beloved cobbler died a few weeks ago, and his local obituary described him as "an artisan in leather." History is filled with cobbler who were deft at their work and combined homely philosophy with it. Are we becoming ashamed of simple jobs and feel the compulsion to give them resounding titles?

THE RESTAURANT is on Broadway, right on it and not a side street. It attracts horsing people, theatre people, the diamonds and the drudges of Broadway. It is bright, noisy and colorful.

In the midst of the dinner hour last Saturday night, a table for six stood empty with a "Reserved" sign on it. All around it the talk was of what show was a hit and who had the winner in the sixth and what horse looked good for the Big Race and did anyone know how to get a piano wholesale. Interspersed with bits of flashing gossip about this and that Broadway character.

IN WALKED a man, his wife, and their four daughters, ranging apparently from about ten to three years old. They were shown to the reserved table and all sat. The adults did not order a cocktail, they helped their enchanting little girls choose dinner from a formidable menu. And when, at last, the waiter brought dinner the six bowed their heads over it and the father said Grace.

It was a touching and lovely scene in the midst of noise, harsh talk and coarse people. Table by table, silence spread and the Broadwayites flicked glances at the six with their heads bowed. When Grace was over, the family pitched in but, because this is Broadway, too, there were eyes with tears in them at several tables and I heard one man say: "You make a crack and I'll bust you one."

Washington Calling

WASHINGTON—While the official State Department view of the current tension in the Middle East is less pessimistic than that of observers who predict a new outbreak of violence, important changes in American personnel are in prospect to strengthen the American position in the area.

The expectation is that Henry A. Byroade will shortly be named Ambassador to Iraq where the ambition of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic to dominate the whole Arab world is being put to the sharpest test.

As Ambassador to Egypt in 1955 and 1956 Byroade became a highly controversial figure and he was sent to the Union of South Africa where he is now Ambassador to take him out of the trouble zone.

BYROADE was accused of being overly partial to Nasser. But his defenders insisted that he was merely realistic, in accord with American policy toward Nasser at the time of his appointment to Cairo.

American policy toward Egypt underwent an abrupt shift during Nasser's tenure as Ambassador and he was left to try to make what adjustments he could to the sudden cooling off toward the Egyptian leader whom American policy makers had initially helped to bring to power.

In any event, Byroade is one of the few American diplomats with real understanding of the area and with the respect and confidence of Arab leaders. His appointment to Iraq could serve a highly useful purpose at a time when the balance of forces is so delicate.

IN THE pessimistic view, Nasser's own ambitions, with a prod from Soviet Russia, make a new grab for power inevitable. With the war threat quieting down in the Far East as the China offshore islands recede from the front page, the Communists will hope to stir trouble and throw the West off balance in the Middle East.

It is in the Near East, with its vast oil riches so essential to Western Europe, that American policy and American personnel have in recent years seemed weakest. The drift has been from one crisis to another, with little in the way of positive policy to check the deterioration of the Western position.

IN THIS connection another change is in prospect and, while the decision is by no means final, it taken it would mean a new realism and perhaps greater vitality. The present Assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern Affairs, William M. Rountree, may be replaced by Raymond A. Hare, who is currently Ambassador to the United Arab Republic.

Rountree is one of the cautious civil servants whom Secretary of State John Foster Dulles moved into positions that are theoretically policy making. In the conviction that you will get into less trouble if you do nothing Rountree has been reluctant to approve any move that seemed to involve any unpleasantness.

THE NEAR EAST is one area in which Dulles feels a lack of expert knowledge and he has, therefore, been more willing to rely on Rountree than on some of his other advisers. In one crisis after another it has been necessary to improvise with measures that often conveyed a sense of desperate expediency. Thus when the rebellion broke out in Iraq without any advance knowledge in the West it became necessary to fly troops into Jordan and Lebanon to try to save those countries.

While Hare is also a foreign service officer he is rated as having more decisiveness and forthrightness than Rountree. As Ambassador to Egypt in the difficult years beginning with the Suez crisis, he has shown great diplomatic skill. To confront Nasser with his overweening ambitions and his revolutionary drive is no easy task.

REVOLUTION in Iraq last July, which in a few desperate hours swept into the dust heap long-term friends of the West and the pivotal position of the Baghdad Pact, took all the Western powers by complete surprise. The uprising led by General Abdul Karim el-Kassim had destroyed the old premier, Nuri el-Said, with his long record of loyalty to Britain, before the West understood what was happening. The American Ambassador to Baghdad, Waldemar J. Gailman, was along with all other Western diplomatic and intelligence agents taken off guard.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — Married people rarely argue about which year they were together they were the happiest.

But they will fight like tigers about which year of matrimony was the worst.

Each remembers a Gettysburg of marriage, the hinge of supreme effort, the committal, the poised indecision, and Gen. Longstreet, the friend of the family, arriving late.

The main guns of marriage are fired early. The artillery bombardment is the first. Then the slow and steady infantry of love and responsibility and duty moves in and seizes and holds the ground, high and low.

I can well recall when my wife Frances and I were discussing the difficulties of marriage with a bunch of young fellow veterans, and we all had pretty well agreed that the seventh or eighth month was the most terrible period of mutual adjustment.

THEN UP REARED the head of an "elderly" lady of about thirty.

"You kids don't know what you are talking about. My husband and I have been married five years. And I'll tell you what's the worst. It's the sixth year!" she said.

Well, naturally this was a shocker to us comparative newbies.

But this was an honest girl, and all she meant to say was that the next year of a marriage can always hold a more golden worst than any you have ever known before. It is so true.

I was thinking of this only the other night on my own 21st wedding anniversary.

I was going to celebrate it with a quiet gamble. I was going to bet my wife she couldn't cook a dinner on time after 21 years, and I knew I would win.

It didn't work out that way. I was bed-fast with a bad back.

Off to the theater galloped Frances with that globe-trotting author, Don Whitehead and his wife Marie, fresh from a trip around the world.

EARTHA, OUR part-time maid with the whole-time heart, put a pillow behind my back. I listened to 5-year-old daughter Tracy brag that "one and one are two, two and two are four, four and four are eight, eight and eight are 16," and so on.

Somebody was riding hard for Eagle Pass on the television screen. And Tracy mumbled that 84 and 64 make 128 and fell asleep.

Then Eartha went home and the room was loud with silence. I listened to arthritis, and knew I would hear it again, by myself. I felt the penalty all things feel who feel alone.

Well, then, in bounced my wife and the Whiteheads, still rich with the magic that only the theater confers, and they cooked hamburgers and we ate them into the morning and talked of old times and new times.

After so long a time I suddenly realized what the girl who had been married five years really meant when she said the sixth year was the worst.

The worst year of any marriage is the one you haven't yet shared.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—Three years have gone by since Admiral Robert B. Carney retired as Chief of Naval Operations. He became chairman of the board of the Bath Iron Works, a director of Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp., and now keeps himself well occupied as a big industrial consultant. The other day, however, nostalgia drove him back to the Pentagon.

His final port of call was the sanctum of his successor, Admiral Arleigh A. Burke. Admiral Carney asked Admiral Burke what was new with himself and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"Nothing," groaned Admiral Burke. "Not one new thing since you escaped from here."

THEY COMPARED notes. Admiral Carney left the Pentagon shaking his head. I ran into him at a reception a couple of days later and he told me that his visit to his successor had given him the most eerie feeling of time standing still.

"I swear," he said, "that some of the letters on Arleigh Burke's desk were the same ones I was wrestling with when they let me get up off the mat. They haven't been processed yet."

Admiral Carney conceded they might be new letters, but on recurrent problems. I asked if he could give me a rundown on the taval problems that recur most frequently.

"Well," began Admiral Carney, "there's the question of abolishing navy yards."

"But why," I objected, "would the Navy want to abolish a Navy Yard? Where would you keep a Navy if it didn't have a yard?"

"Let us not go into that," said Admiral Carney. "It's a little too complex for your limited intelligence. But it's a recurring problem."

"What's the problem?"

"Well, no yard I ever heard of yet likes to lose its Navy Yard. When we try to abolish one, the local citizens say 'No,' but the Budget says 'Yes.'"

"Next comes the problem of whether to reduce forces. The Budget says 'Yes,' but the international crisis says 'No.'"

"I'm beginning to get the idea," I said. "Do you have any other big recurring problem?"

"We do—the biggest," grinned Admiral Carney. "We have an appropriation of a billion and a half dollars to build ships. What kind of ships do we build? Do we build carriers? The carrier boys say 'Yes,' but the submarine boys say 'No.'"

"Few big problems ever get settled for good in the U. S. Navy," concluded Admiral Carney. "Arleigh Burke will find that out too when he goes back to visit his successor."

33 Permits Issued For Construction

Ten-Month Total Hits $4,074,934 In Allegany Co.

Total estimated cost of construction authorized by 358 building permits issued by the Allegany County assessing department during the first ten months of 1958 is $4,074,934 or $255,439 more than in the corresponding period of last year.

In the first ten months of 1957 there were 347 permits and the builders estimated cost totaled $3,819,495.

October was the fourth successive month this year in which the total estimated cost of construction exceeded the same month of last year. There were 33 October permits issued and the total estimated cost was $159,500. A year ago, the October totals were 30 permits and $147,125.

In each year there has been one single permit which far overshadowed all others. In 1957 it was a January permit for a proposed $2,000,000 shopping center off of Winchester Road but this project never has been started. This year the big project was the $2,308,254 waste treatment plant at Westernport on which work was begun in May.

The 33 permits issued last month authorized construction in 11 election districts of the county. The co-leaders are Election District 7 in the Cresaptown-Rawlings area and District 16 at North Branch, each with six permits. District 29 at LaVale, the usual leader, was third with five permits. Other districts with more than one October building permit included District 5, North End suburban, four permits; District 1, Little Orleans, and District 20, Corriganville-Ellerslie, three each, and District 3, Flintstone, two.

Single permits were issued for construction in District 6, West Side suburban; District 22, East Side suburban; District 26, Frostburg, and District 31, McCoole.

It took 12 years to build the Colossus of Rhodes. This huge bronze statue of the sun god, Helios, stood about 110 feet high.

Satellite Officials Ban Drinking

By RICHARD KASICHKE

VIENNA (AP) — Taking a cue from Nikita Khrushchev, European satellite officials are campaigning against excessive drinking.

The Budapest newspaper Nepszava complains that bootlegging has become a national plague in Red-Ruled Hungary.

Once only the country folk in Hungary were moonshiners, but now illegal distilling has become big business in the cities, fouling the tax collector as well as fouling up industrial production as people drink increasingly.

The Hungarian Red Cross has published figures to show that alcoholism is costing the country nearly eight million man work-days a year, as well as causing most of its auto accidents and broken homes.

Latest of the satellites to announce a drive against drink is Czechoslovakia. The country's police boss, Interior Minister Rudolf Barak, kicked off the campaign at a Prague news conference.

He was flanked by high officials of the Health Ministry and the Ministry of Justice who emphasized that if the people don't stop drinking for their own good the state prosecutor will catch them.

Barak and company announced that little progress had been made in Czechoslovak temperance drives so far.

Added Barak: "And recently we have an increasing new menace—that is the illegal distilling of spirits. In the first half of 1958 our police discovered 1,328 illegal distilleries."

Czechoslovak authorities complained that raising the prices of the local whisky, vodka or schapps did not curb drinking.

"We found," they reported, "that a slight decline in the purchase of stronger drinks was more than increased in spending for beer and wine—especially the strongest beer."

What to do? Barak suggested one remedy, in addition to the police drive on drinks and bootleggers: "Let all cafes stock up on more lemonade and mineral water."

Army Honors "Deserter" Of World War I

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—Forty years ago Gabriel Garcia ran out into no man's land in France to save a wounded comrade. Tuesday the Army, which had carried him as a deserter since 1919, honored him for his courage.

Garcia, 68, a farm laborer who speaks only Spanish, was the honor guest at San Antonio's Veterans Day celebration. A military plane flew him to San Antonio and back to his home here. A general pinned medals on his chest and spoke of his valor. He sat on a reviewing stand with the brass and watched troops march by.

When it was over, Garcia said through an interpreter: "What else is there to say but to thank my country and my government from the bottom of my heart?"

Garcia was wounded by heavy enemy fire near St. Juvin, France, Oct. 16, 1918, while rescuing a comrade. He was hospitalized at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, from July to September, 1919, then told he could leave. Someone gave him some papers and Garcia assumed he was discharged. Later he lost the papers.

Last March he asked medical treatment at the Veterans Administration office here. There he learned he was carried as a deserter.

His record was straightened out and Tuesday Lt. Gen. G. S. Meloy Jr., 4th Army commander, pinned on Garcia's chest the Distinguished Service Cross, the Purple Heart and the World War I Victory Medal with three battle clusters.

Mentally Ill Mothers Helped By Presence Of Babies

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Taking healthy infants and toddlers into a mental hospital along with their mentally ill mothers has been tried out on a sizeable scale and found to be beneficial for both. This is a new and revolutionary procedure. Generally speaking healthy young children are not wanted around hospitals, especially mental hospitals.

The original idea of Dr. F. R. Main, who tried the experiment, was to avoid breaking up the intimate mother-child relationship which psychological science considers vital for the child's emotional health. But it was soon discovered that the mental illnesses of the mothers included "disturbances in mothering" which were best treated with their babies around.

Many Quite Ill
Main is medical director of a 100-bed hospital. Patients are of both sexes and all ages. They suffer from mental illnesses of the lesser sort; there are no cases of "gross confusional insanity" among them. Nevertheless, many are quite sick and deeply disturbed. Right now the 100 are living "cheek by jowl" (Main's words) with 18 infants and toddlers.

Each mother has a room for herself and her young one, and must take care of it in every particular, but gets whatever help she needs. Childish noise-making is confined as much as possible to the grounds and a playroom. The patients, aside from the mothers, "have no close or intense contact" unless they wish it, for children belong to their mothers and live and play in their vicinity," Main said.

The experiment was begun timidly, with only one babe and its mother. Slowly it expanded, and the hospital was reorganized to accommodate it, since there had to be guarantees at every step that it was good for all concerned—the babies, their sick mothers, and other patients. Now that it has succeeded, Main is reporting it to interested scientific groups.

Not Just Retreat
Basically, the idea grew from the concept that any mental hospital which is only "a retreat from the stresses and strains of domestic and industrial life" is not helping patients to get well. Main's male patients were kept in touch with their places in the outside world, and so "it seemed important that a mother should be kept in touch with her job and the children who were part of it," he said.

Main belongs to the British

Overcharging Report Asked

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Conservation Commission said today any overcharging for hunting and fishing licenses should be reported immediately to its offices here.

A commission spokesman said reports of vendors charging higher fees than allowed by law had been received. The spokesman said that each license had the cost and other legal fees printed on it and any vendor asking more than this price should be reported.

A psychiatric school which has developed a number of revolutionary ideas for improving the treatment of mental illnesses. (His hospital is in England). The most radical of these ideas is the "open hospital" in which there are no locked doors and where no patient, even the most violently disturbed, is confined.

Embalmed Corpse Stolen As Prank

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The embalmed body of a man whose identity has remained a mystery since his death 29 years ago disappeared Tuesday from a small building in back of a funeral home here.

Later police found the corpse under some newspapers on a park bench. Authorities said student pranksters probably took the body from the building, where an estimated half million persons have viewed it.

Hays Cites Problems At Baptist Meet

By LEON BURNETT
United Press International
ATLANTA (UPI)—"The South must not be afraid of controversy, but must earnestly seek to solve its problems," Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) told a delegation of Georgia Baptists Wednesday night.
In a speech at the Georgia Baptist Convention, Hays expressed concern over his defeat by segregationist write-in candidate Dr. Dale Alford. "But my head is still up, and I am not humiliated," he added.
Hays, head of the Southern Baptist Convention, is visiting state conventions this week. He is to address the Virginia group today at Richmond.
"Defeat is not a new experience for me," he said, "because I was beaten four times before I ever gained public office. But then this was the first time I have been defeated in 25 years, and I must admit I was a bit out of practice."
"I still believe that moderation is the answer to our problems," he said. "But I do not think that moderation should become a cult. Moderation diluted by an unwillingness to face issues amounts to weakness."
The Arkansas congressman said his moderate approach to the racial question has been widely misinterpreted. "I have been true to Southern tradition," he said. "I have protested federal intervention in the affairs of the states. I believe in the rule of law, and in the principle of the right of states to handle their own internal matters."
He did not refer in his speech to the demand made Wednesday by a group of Baptist laymen in Mississippi that he resign as president of the Southern Baptist Convention. He did say, however, that he planned to devote the remaining six months of his term "completely to the convention's affairs."

Bank Employee Had Rather Shady Past
NEW YORK (UPI)—Officials of the Richmond Hill branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank gasped Wednesday when they heard of the background of a man they had employed as a porter last summer.
Police said Leon Scott, 35, arrested Wednesday for entering the bank with a key he had kept and stealing a gun, had a record of 14 arrests and was on parole from Sing Sing Prison on a burglary conviction.

Baptist Set Next Year's Convention

Baltimore To Be Scene Of Meeting On November 9-11

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Next year's annual convention of the Maryland Baptist Union Assn. will be held at the Eutaw Place Baptist Church in Baltimore Nov. 9-11.
This was one of the final pieces of business settled by 150 delegates to this year's convention here.
The three-day meeting ended yesterday with installation of new officers and adoption of a resolution calling for a law which would ban liquor sales on Sundays within 100 yards of churches and schools.
The resolution called on member churches to encourage such legislation.
After selecting next year's meeting site, the delegates named The Rev. Eldon W. Koch of Berwyn Baptist Church, College Park, to deliver the special sermon at the 1959 convention.
Elected chairmen of standing committees were: The Rev. Charles A. Jolly, Annapolis, order of business; Elmer F. Ruark, Salisbury, appropriations; Dr. Vernon B. Richardson, Baltimore, radio-television; The Rev. Frank A. Downing, Baltimore, nominations; Dr. Clyde Atkins, Baltimore, foreign missions.
The Rev. H. P. Clause, Baltimore, home missions; The Rev. J. Guy Saunders, Crisfield, Christian life; Albert E. Schaible, Baltimore, auditing, and Gainer E. Bryan, Baltimore, public relations.
Alexander Hamilton and Robert Fulton are buried in the Trinity Church graveyard near New York's Wall Street financial section.

Tour Scheduled Of W.Va. State Parks

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A three-day tour of West Virginia state parks and forests this month, the State Conservation Commission said today.
The tour was set up in order to publicize the recreation areas. It will start at Mont Chateau Lodge near Morgantown on Nov. 17 and overnight stops will be made at Cacapon State Park and Blackwater Falls State Park.
Luncheons for the group will be staged in Romney, Moorefield and Parsons. The tour will cover scenic and historical spots, mostly in the Canaan Valley region.
Some 32 representatives of newspapers, radio and television stations, the State Conservation Commission said today.
PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—An unidentified Navy plane strafed Arthur Golightly's automobile Wednesday, ripping it with 50-caliber bullets. No one was injured. Officers said they believed the firing was accidental.

City To Ask Cash Refund

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—City Manager Robert M. Holsinger said today the city of Huntington would ask Friday to withdraw a $400,000 carryover balance it has paid into the West Virginia Sinking Fund Commission.

Holsinger said he and city officials would confer in Charleston with Atty. Gen. W. W. Barron, Tax Commissioner John A. Field and the Sinking Fund Commission.

The balance in the sinking fund is an accumulation of excess payments by the city on past bond issues. The city wants the money to pay old debts and for proposed new construction projects.

Food Distribution Set In Ridgeley

Surplus government food commodities will be distributed in Ridgeley tomorrow from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer said the food will be distributed at the city building and eligible persons are asked to bring their containers. Food will be given to residents of Ridgeley, Carpenter's Addition, Short Gap, Wiley Ford, Fort Ashby and Pattersons Creek.

UNPOPULAR—Premier Samir el Rifai, above, has held Jordan together with strong controls but remains one of the least liked men in the kingdom. ## Working Mother Often Tops Those At Home

By DOROTHY BOK
Associated Press Women's Editor
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The working mother need have no feelings of guilt toward her children—she's often a better mother than the one who stays home all day.

This is the opinion of Margit Fellegi, one of the world's busiest women. She has been designing bathing suits for 25 years while raising four children and being a proud and devoted wife to the late Aladar Laslo, well-known writer who died six weeks ago.

"I believe with all my heart that the woman who is busy and active has more to give her children than the mother who limits her horizons to the four walls of her home. She is able to inspire them with more ideas, to offer more stimulating companionship," Margit says.

Margit's children are Peter, 16, a freshman at California Institute of Technology; Vicki, 15, a student at Beverly High School who often models her mother's swim suits; Winston, 13; and Larry, 10. I talked with this designer on the opening day of the week of press showings by California fashion creators. Her designs for this year include some daring Bikini and started out to be a dancer, Margit came to California with her father, Emil Fellegi, and opened a custom dressmaking salon in Beverly Hills, specializing in theatrical costumes.

Margit was born in St. Louis in theatrical costumes.

West Virginia Budget Session Set Next Month

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Head of West Virginia state agencies will appear before the Board of Public Works Dec. 8-10 to present their requests for 1959-60 budget allocations. It was announced today.

Following the sessions, the board will prepare a final document for presentation to the Legislature. The lawmakers convene Jan. 14 for a 60-day session.

Finance and Administration Director George Vieweg said the overall total of department budgets had not been completed.

Several departments are known to have proposed 1959-60 budget requests calling for large increases over the present fiscal year. Among these are the Health Department and the Mental Health Department.

Pretty Swede Prefers Arty Rugs To Movies

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bitten Valberg is pretty enough to join all those other Swedes who've become movie stars. But she prefers art with floors to films.

Mrs. Valberg, a tall, blonde designer, first won a name for herself in her native land with her custom-made rugs, which start as water-color abstractions. She then dyes the yarns in the same hues and weaves them into the finished product.

"Why not art for floors?" said the 32-year-old Mrs. Valberg. "People buy it for walls."

"I would like for people to get the same feeling from one of my rug designs that they do from a favorite painting," she said.

"Matter of fact, some of my clients have bought my works for rugs but hung them on the walls instead."

children. Like a four-poster bed, My rugs will last through several generations."

Mrs. Valberg, daughter of a physician and amateur sculptor, Dr. Karl Bergh, studied design, art and weaving at the state art school in Stockholm. She won several prizes in her homeland and was commissioned to do rugs for several churches.

In 1956, she came to the United States "to learn about your synthetics" and to study at the Dorothy Liebes Design Studio. Her abstracts in rugs were exhibited in 1956 and 1957 at the New York Museum of Contemporary Crafts and last April, were displayed at the Walker Art Center, Minneapolis.

Rug For Painting
"In Minneapolis, a lady came in looking for a painting. She went home with my rug 'Sunset' instead," said the artist happily. Her small factory in Stockholm will continue to turn out one-of-a-kind rugs, some selling for as much as $180 per square yard. But now, she has teamed with a U.S. manufacturer (Cabin Crafts) to design area rugs which will be machine produced and cost about half as much.

Mrs. Valberg has been married and divorced. She explained that she did not go back to using her maiden name for a very good reason. "In Sweden," she said, "the requirement is—once you've been married, you're never a miss again."

Services Set Saturday For Baltimore Politician

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be held Saturday for John H. Reed, stormy Baltimore politician who served in City Council and the Maryland General Assembly.

Reed died Tuesday in Lutheran Hospital after suffering a heart attack. He was 59.

Services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at St. William of York Church with burial in New Cathedral Cemetery.

Reed was a Democrat in politics and a boilermaker by trade. He was an uninhibited speaker given to colorful phrase making.

He served two terms in City Council, 1947-1953, representing the city's 5th District. Prior to that time he had served two terms in the House of Delegates.

His activities with City Council ended with his defeat in 1955. He filed for governor in the 1957 Democratic primary, but later withdrew.

Reed, an employee of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for 40 years, said his main platform plank would be "the right to work." He denounced "compulsory unionism" as inconsistent with American freedoms.

In 1954, Reed introduced in City Council a resolution referring to the Supreme Court's school desegregation ruling as one that swept aside the facts of community life in "cavalier fashion."

DOLLS AND DOLLS—It doesn't matter if you like real dolls or the toy kind because you'll find both kinds right here. to right are Gay Scott, 19, Los Angeles; Marlene Keirn, 19, Ripon, Calif., and Candy Anderson, 15, Salt Lake City, Utah. Some 45,000 girls made dolls for the contest. The dolls will be turned over to underprivileged children in Europe, the Middle East and Korea in time for Christmas. (AP Photo)

Noted Physician Cancer Victim

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Dr. C. Loring Joslin, a leading physician in the field of pediatrics who died yesterday at his Baltimore home. He was 71.

Services will be held at St. David's Church at 10 a. m. Dr. Joslin was professor of pediatrics at the university of Maryland School of Medicine from 1930 until his retirement in 1950.

Before his death he was ill with cancer for nearly a year. Although he was aware of the nature of his illness, Dr. Joslin continued his practice until last August.

He also had a practice on the Eastern Shore for many years, spending one day a month at a hospital in Easton.

Dr. Joslin was one of the first physicians to demonstrate the value of vitamin B complex in the treatment of infants and children. He was the first to show the value of pectin and dehydrated banana powder in the treatment of diarrhea in infants and children.

Another contribution was his recognition of intracranial hemorrhage in newborn infants. Early treatment of this condition prevents such future complications as cerebral palsy or idiocy.

Dr. Joslin was born in Sudlersville on Maryland's Eastern Shore and remained a Marylander all his life. He received his medical degree at the University of Maryland and later did advanced work at Johns Hopkins Hospital and the

Glass Union Head Plans Report Here

Ralph Reiser, Columbus, Ohio, international president of the United Glass and Ceramics Union, will speak at a meeting of Cumberland Local 180 here Friday.

The meeting will be held at 7 p. m. in the Woodmen of the World hall, Union Street, according to Charles Buskirk, president of Local 180.

He said Reiser will present a report on contract negotiations with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Local 180 represents some 600 hourly-paid workers of PPG's Works 7 here, which has been struck since October 7.

Negotiators have not met on a national level since October 31, when talks broke off at Louisville.

Strike benefit checks will be issued prior to Friday's meeting, Buskirk said.

Girl Selected Massachusetts' Top Dairyman

SOUTHDEERFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Massachusetts' top 4-H dairyman this year does most of the work with 53 animals, and counts hunting and shooting as hobbies.

But make no mistake — the champ isn't a burly young man. Miss Joan VanPetersilge, 19, a pretty beauty school student, won the state title from among hundreds of 4-H club youths who specialize in dairying.

Extension service officials can't remember when a girl last won the title.

Father, Daughter Killed In Car Crash

DENTON, Md. (AP) — A Delaware man and his daughter were killed last night on a curve of Maryland 404 which claimed two lives in a crash less than three months ago.

Little Arlene Fiori, who would have been two years old in January, was killed in the two-vehicle crash last night, and her father, Arthur M. Fiori of Bridgeville, Del., died on the way to Easton Memorial Hospital.

Fiori's wife Madeline, 34, was taken to the hospital where she was still reported unconscious. State Trooper Vernon T. Bledsoe identified the driver of the second vehicle, a pickup truck, as Arthur Mintz, 35, of Harrington, Del. He also was taken to Easton Memorial Hospital and had injuries similar to those of Mrs. Fiori — head and chest and broken arms and legs.

Bledsoe said the Mintz truck, possibly traveling at a high speed, failed to make a curve on the western outskirts of the city and crossed the center line, smashing into Fiori's car.

Rescue workers from Denton worked about an hour prying Fiori out of the twisted wreckage. It took longer than that to extricate Mintz, Bledsoe said.

Two persons were killed and several injured in a two-car accident at the same spot on the highway on Aug. 23.

Demo Battle Seen In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Fear of a possible bitter battle among Democrats in selecting a speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives was voiced today by some party leaders.

Democrats won control of the Legislature for the first time in 10 years last week, electing 78 representatives and 20 state senators. A House Democratic caucus has been set for Dec. 5.

Indications were Reps. James J. McGirtick, Cleveland, and James A. Lantz, Lancaster, would be the leading contenders for House speaker, with forces for both already busy at work rounding up support. No caucus has yet been set to elect a Senate president.

Only about one-third of the residents of Washington, D. C., were born in the city.

New York City Hunters Admit Killing Warden

CARLE, N.Y. (AP)—Two New York City hunters have confessed to the shooting of Clarence Smith, 28, father of three children, authorities said. They were taken later to the estate of J. Arthur Cushman, board chairman of American Bak-poaching for the second time on a 3,000-acre near here, police say.
Martin Anzalone, 28, an unemployed bricklayer, and Mario Sessa, 17, a barber's assistant, are in the Putnam County jail here to await a hearing Friday on first-degree murder charges.
Anzalone and Sessa were arrested by Smith for poaching early Tuesday in their Bronx homes and under questioning ad-

Police said Smith was shot in the back from a distance of several feet and again through the head at very close range.
Each man admitted firing one shot, police said.
Anzalone and young Sessa were arrested by Smith for poaching Oct. 20. They were fined $10 each by a justice of the peace.

gationist, seated third from left. Facing Alford across the conference table is Wayne Upton, who vacated the post of school board president. Alford is shown reading the resolution to buy up Blossom's contract. Alford cast the lone vote against the move.

County Plans Purchase Of Drainage Pipe

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday decided to purchase 32 feet of heavy steel drainage pipe from the Pennsylvania Lumber and Post Company Inc., Narrows Park, for $3 a foot.

Several weeks ago the company wrote the commissioners offering to sell the heavy metal drainage pipe with couplings to the county for $3.75 a lineal foot. The pipes were installed about two years ago and had to be removed because of the expansion of U.S. Route 40 in LaVale. At that time the matter was referred to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly for investigation.

Yesterday, the company submitted a second letter offering the pipe for $3 a foot if the county sends its own truck to pick them up.

Program Set Sunday By KC Council

Tea members of Cumberland Council 508, Knights of Columbus, who died during the past year, will be eulogized Sunday afternoon during the annual memorial service of the council.

Joseph A. Soethe, grand knight, who will take part in the program, said the service will begin at 2 p. m. in the council chamber.

Rev. Sylvan Fondriest, OFM, Cap. assistant pastor of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, will take part in the program in place of Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM, Cap. pastor, who is also chaplain of the local KC council.

The color guard of Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus will participate.

Others who will take part, besides Soethe, include John Lindner, past grand knight; Edward Lyons, warden; John Rorick, chancellor, and Hubert Farrell, financial secretary.

Rorick is chairman of arrangements of the memorial service.

Williams Lists $163 In Election Expenses

David J. Williams, Midland, unsuccessful Republican candidate for the House of Delegates, is the first to file his expenses report for the recent election. His expenditures included $100 to the Republican State Central Committee, $38.45 for advertising and $25 in miscellaneous costs.

Judge Orders Man Held For Action Of Jury

Robert E. Flynn Jr., 22, Washington, formerly of this city, was ordered committed to the Allegany County Jail yesterday in default of $2,500 bond following a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court on charges of robbery and assault.

Flynn, one of two young men charged in the robbery and assault of three local men last Thursday, was returned to Cumberland Tuesday night from Washington, where he was arrested early Tuesday morning.

Attorney Thomas B. Finan entered a plea of not guilty for Flynn and waived preliminary hearing. Magistrate Morris Bar-on then ordered Flynn held for action of the January term of the grand jury and committed him to jail in default of bond.

Finan said yesterday the defense has requested of the state's attorney's office that Flynn be given a psychiatric examination.

Flynn, who has been charged with the assault and theft of $12 from Joseph A. McKenzie, 74, of 208 Columbia Street, admitted his part in the three robberies in a statement yesterday to County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

The other man implicated in the three robberies, George R. Keller, 23, of 239 Henderson Avenue, was given a preliminary hearing Friday and committed to the County Jail in default of $2,500 bond to await action of the next grand jury.

Lilya said the statements taken from the two men concerning the events leading up to and including the three robberies agree except for one point.

In the statement made by Keller last week, he said he only held the men and it was Flynn who beat up the men. Flynn said in his statement yesterday that it was Keller who beat up the two men.

Lilya said Flynn stated he hitchhiked out of town about 7 a.m. the morning after the robberies. He was arrested by Washington police at a West 21st Street address.

The former local man said he returned to Cumberland about a month and a half ago from Washington, where he was formerly employed by an insurance firm.

Ali Ghan Flag Unit Plans Social Today

The Ali Ghan Flag Unit will hold a social today at the Shrine City Club in honor of the ladies of members.

Municipal Aid Agency Proposed By Md. Body

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—A proposed new State agency that would give Maryland cities and towns a helping hand on a variety of problems is high on the agenda of the Maryland Municipal League meeting opening here today.

The three-day meeting at the Wiconilco Hotel also will take up a proposal to give cities and counties urban renewal powers and will discuss the feasibility of setting up a State economic development commission.

Some 250 local government officials and others are expected to attend.

Governor-elect J. Millard Tawes will address the opening day session of the league's 11th annual convention.

The new agency to assist cities and towns would have its headquarters at the University of Maryland and would be known as the Municipal Technical Advisory Service. It already has the backing of the university.

If the legislature and governor give it the go-ahead it would be launched with a budget of $25,000.

League officials see the advisory service as a pressing need for the State's smaller cities and towns.

Purpose of the new agency would be "to provide consulting services, on a practical level to the municipal government officials of the State."

The league said the service would be administered by a director qualified by education and experience to assure a "high level program of direct, practical assistance to municipal officials."

Some of the things the agency would do:

1—Provide a consulting service for engineering work, particularly sanitary engineering and public works.

2—Offer advice on the preparation of municipal reports and the dissemination of information to the public on municipal affairs.

3—Help municipal officials codify ordinances or launch revisions of their charters. This work is regarded as especially pressing since the adoption of municipal home rule in Maryland.

The league spokesman pointed out, would be hard put to maintain an advisory service on their own. At the State level it could be shared by all.

The league envisions a "pool" of technical experts which would include at first one full-time consultant and two working part-time.

If the program has the success anticipated for it, it could be expanded with perhaps local governments paying limited fees so that the State's financial backing of it would not be appreciably increased by any expansion.

Edmund C. Mester, executive secretary of the league, said Tennessee has had such an advisory service since 1949 and that its experience with it has been excellent.

Six Maryland mayors went to Tennessee last January to look over the operation and found mayors there enthusiastic over the program, Mester said.

Here's how the league sees such an advisory service in operation in Maryland:

The consultant for engineering would be a "generalist with special competence in sanitary engineering and public works." He would assist the city engineer, performing for the city services "which can be accomplished quickly through his special competence, and to advise the city as to when it requires a private or special consulting engineer for major projects."

The consultant on municipal information and administration would assist in the preparation of municipal reports, dissemination of governmental information and in all areas of communication relating to municipal affairs. "A major weakness of local government today," the league said, "is the lack of communications between governments and their peoples."

The league's outline of the proposed service said that "should in the years to come, additional services be warranted, a method of sharing the increased costs might well be explored." But at the start the basic cost would be born by the State, through the University.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University and the university's board of regents already have approved the idea.

The next move is up to the legislature and governor.

At the league convention Dr. Alvin O. Kuhn, executive vice president of the university and Franklin D. Burdette, director of the Bureau of Governmental Research will tell members why the university is backing the proposal.

Presiding over the sessions will be Mayor Frederick J. Richardson, of Mt. Rainier, league president.

Engineer Cites Cost Of Bridge

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia Road Commission Engineer O. A. Trout said today recent construction of a pre-fabricated bridge on Sec. 15 near Pine Grove, Wetzel County saved the state $10,000.

Trout said the bridge was erected by a Charleston firm at a cost of $60,000. He said it took only 40 days compared with four months for a conventional span which would have cost $70,000.

The three-span bridge has a total length of 150 feet and a roadway width of 22 feet. There also is a three-foot-wide walkway.

School Board Hears Routine Business

A number of routine matters including the formal approval of the appointment of 39 new teachers were handled by the Allegany County Board of Education Tuesday.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said the 39 teachers, representing about six per cent of the total force, include a number who have returned from leaves of absence.

Charles Stoller, local president of Friends Aware of Handicapped Children, appeared before the board to discuss ways of broadening the program for handicapped youngsters.

Permission was granted to the ABL Chorus for use of the Allegany High School auditorium next March 5, 6 and 7 for a musical show. The request was made by Cletus Hartscock, chorus director.

Cooperative Bass

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Fisherman Louis Johnson said he had no trouble catching a two-pound bass. The bass jumped into his boat on a bayou near here, he said.

Legislative Unit Ponders Variety Bills

Two Issues Draw Judicial Veto; Scholarships Cut

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Legislative Council will consider today a variety of bills which were accepted or rejected by two of its committees yesterday.

The full council, the between-sessions screening body of the General Assembly, is expected to concur for the most part in the committee recommendations.

Two controversial bills were turned down by the Judiciary Committee yesterday. One would have abolished the Water Pollution Control Commission and the other would have given alumni the dominant voice on the University of Maryland Board of Regents.

May Reach Assembly

Even if the regents bill is rejected by the council, however, there was a strong indication it would be introduced anyway on the floor of the Legislature next January.

The Judiciary Committee, under Sen. Fred C. Malkus Jr. (D-Dorchester) also rejected a proposal to create an offense of negligent homicide, designed to fill the gap between traffic offenses and the charge of automobile manslaughter.

Approved by the committee were bills to ease the lot of State's witnesses held in lieu of bail in criminal cases; to authorize driver training in public high schools as an elective course; and to give political subdivisions authority to give the power of law to "walk" lights at intersections.

Immediate Hearing
The State's witness bill would provide an immediate hearing before a magistrate and the fixing of "reasonable bond" if it is believed the witness should be detained.

If the witness were jailed in lieu of bond, he would be freed after seven days unless the state's attorney petitioned the court to hold him longer. At a hearing on the petition, the court could discharge the witness, release him or hold him longer.

The Budget and Finance Committee under Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Baltimore) approved a bill to provide State college scholarships, but reduced the number to be granted over a four-year period from 1,600 to 800.

Local Man Held For Baltimore

A Cumberland man wanted by Baltimore authorities was picked up here today by a Trial Magistrate Court constable as the suspect signed up for unemployment compensation.

A sheriff's office spokesman said a warrant was received here Monday charging James Edward Crowe with larceny.

Crowe had been residing in Baltimore and according to the spokesman, returned here this week.

The arrest was made this morning in the local office of the State Department of Employment Security by Robert W. Turnbull.

Crowe is being held in the County Jail for Baltimore authorities who are scheduled to pick him up tomorrow at 11 a. m.

School To Hold Parent Program

Mt. Royal School will hold a parent visitation program tomorrow in conjunction with the observance of National Education Week. Parents may visit the classrooms between 1 and 2 p. m., according to Miss Grace Flier, principal.

Following the room visitation, parents will go to the school auditorium where Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for the Allegany County Board of Education, will discuss the physical fitness program he has begun in county schools. A demonstration of basic physical tests will also be presented.

Refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria following Pence's talk.

Named To Committee

Michael F. Whitworth, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Whitworth, The Dingle, has been appointed a member of the dance committee at Mercersburg (Pa.) Academy.

REHEARSE FOR CONCERT—The fall concert of the Cumberland Civic Symphony orchestra will be presented next Tuesday evening in Allegany High School auditorium. Three members of the bass section of the unit are shown at a recent rehearsal. From left to right, are E. W. Humbertson, Mrs. Joyce Zornig and Kenneth Shaffer. Mrs. Zornig will be the featured soloist in the concert. She has sung with the Cumberland Choral Society.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Mt. Savage Man Held In Bedford

Authorities in nearby Bedford, Pa., are holding a Mt. Savage man wanted here in connection with a breaking and entering.

Trooper Joseph Helmstetter of the Maryland State Police said Robert H. Witt, about 25, is being held in the Bedford City Jail.

Authorities said Witt is wanted in Allegany County in connection with a breaking and entering this past Sunday at a gasoline station near Corrigansville.

Trooper Helmstetter said five automobile tires and several gallon cans of oil were stolen from the service station.

Police said Witt has admitted to stealing a truck in Hagerstown and the breaking and entering here. The man was nabbed in Bedford on a stolen car charge from Johnstown.

Boy Accidentally Shoots Himself

KEYSER—A 12-year-old boy is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound of his leg.

Claude E. Rice, Mineral County conservation officer, said the boy, Granville Davis Jr., accidentally shot himself near the shingone of his left leg with a .22 calibre rifle while hunting near his home in the Stony Run section.

He was admitted to the hospital Tuesday. The wound is said to be not serious.

Area Apples Find Markets Over World

Half Of One Firm's Output Going Into Export Business

By C. A. LANCASTER
Evening Times Staff Writer

Allegany County apples are going all over the world.

This was revealed in Paw Paw by Henry W. Miller Jr., executive vice president of Consolidated Orchards Company, Inc., which has extensive holdings in Allegany County, and Morgan and Hampshire counties in West Virginia.

Consolidated is one of the ten largest shippers of apples in the country.

He reported that half of the crop of this year's 300,000 bushels will go to the export market, in Latin and South America, and Europe.

The extra fancy tray boxes packed by the company get particularly good reception in England and Venezuela.

Export Business Up

Miller pointed to the rising export business as the company unveiled its new apple packing line in the Paw Paw packing house.

The firm has installed the newest type of grader that operates on a production line basis. The apples are graded through a weight system and the packers select the right kind for placing in the tray boxes.

The company's storage is designed to carry under refrigeration 180,000 bushels or orchard boxes as of apples to be packed fresh when orders are received. Much of the storage space is used two or more times each season.

The packing season runs from early July when the early summer varieties are moved through without refrigeration, to March.

Prices Low

Miller pointed out that the packing room and equipment is designed to handle up to 400,000 bushels annually.

This year's crop is estimated to be approximately 300,000 bushels, Miller said. This year experienced bumper crops and the prices on the market are low.

But through quality control and by packing fresh upon order, the company has established a firm market for its Mounslaine brand of apples, Miller said.

When an order is received, the apples are moved from storage and placed on the conveyor line for grading and packing. This protects from difficulties such as decay, scald and other troubles normally found in fruit packed at harvest time and held in storage for long periods.

Waste Reduced

Miller told the 70 orchardists, buyers and packers attending the unveiling of the new equipment Tuesday that much thought and planning have been directed at reducing the waste and confusion so often present in the harvesting, warehousing and packing of perishable fruit.

Piece work is not used, but all regular employees (about 100 the year around) are on a profit-sharing plan and receive extra money at the end of each year that the company makes money. Base wage rates paid before profit sharing bonuses are as high as those paid by other leading apple concerns in the area, Miller added.

Cresaptown PTA Will Meet Today

The Cresaptown School Parent Teacher Association will meet today at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Room visitation will be held during the 45 minutes preceding the meeting.

Textile Production Hits 22-Month High In October

Textile production is estimated to have hit a 22-month high in October, according to Textile World, an industry publication.

Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation's participation in this increased textile activity has been indicated by a relatively high and stable employment level throughout the year, a plant spokesman said today.

In April, Cumberland area industry survey reported Amcelle's employment at 200 more than in April 1957.

This improvement over the previous years employment had increased to 400 in July. Present employment of 2,700 is approximately 100 over that of a year ago.

Amcelle's favorable employment experience has resulted from a high demand for the company's acetate yarn for which new end uses have been developed, and from its Arnel output, which has been on allocation for several months, the spokesman said.

Textile World's index rose to an estimated 110, the highest point since December 1957 and 14.5 per cent above the recession low of 96 reached in April of this year.

Many mills returned to six-day operation in middle and late September. October is usually a peak seasonal production period, and the index may turn down again in November or December.

The peak in 1955 was reached in December. In 1956 in November and December, and in 1957 in September and October.

So the critical test will come at the turn of the year, the magazine says. It is almost certain that production will ease off somewhat from the present surging activity. Christmas and New Year's holidays alone will cause a dip.

There may be a drop as mills go into spring and summer 1959. An easing off of six to eight index points will be normal, and will not disturb business. A sharper drop will be a bearish sign, a shallower one a bullish sign.

Missionary Speaks Here This Evening

A missionary to Dahomey in French West Africa will be the speaker at First Assembly of God Church this evening, according to Rev. Arthur Vespa, pastor.

The speaker will be Rev. Ted R. Schultz, who has served in Dahomey since his appointment to that area in 1951. This evening's service is being conducted in conjunction with a missionary convention of the Assembly of God Church in the tri-state area.

Rev. Mr. Vespa said. The convention opened yesterday and will conclude Sunday, with a different missionary scheduled to speak each evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Schultz were the first missionaries to work with the tribes in the Somba territory. A graduate of Southeastern Bible Institute, Rev. Mr. Schultz served in Mississippi before going to Africa.

He has served as superintendent of the Dahomey district for 18 months, been secretary-treasurer of the district for three years and taught in the Dahomey Bible School since being stationed in Africa.

Rev. and Mrs. Schultz will return to Dahomey at the conclusion of his furlough in this country.

Rev. David T. Scott will speak tomorrow, Rev. Howard Osgood, Saturday, and Rev. Florence Christie, Sunday. The services begin daily at 7:30 p. m.

Means Held For Murder

Marcus Means, 73, of Clearville, Pa., was ordered held without bond this morning by Justice of the Peace H. Cyril Bingham of Bedford.

Means was charged with murder in the death of Oda Clingerman, an Everett, Pa., woman, who was shot to death on October 31.

The purpose of the hearing today, according to Pennsylvania State Police, was to determine if there was enough evidence to hold the man for grand jury action.

Means was admitted to the Bedford County Hospital for surgery for a bullet wound in his left shoulder which authorities said he inflicted on himself after he shot to death Oda Clingerman, 40.

Clingerman was found in the rear of his truck after he had delivered gasoline to the Means farm. Means had been under a police guard at the hospital until his release from the institution Monday.

Times Regret Casual Fashion Of News Story

In reporting what appeared to be a minor accident recently suffered by Henry P. Wagoner, Springfield, W. Va., news sources gave no indication of the subsequent gravity of the accident.

Mr. Wagoner later died. The Evening Times regrets that at the time the account was received information available caused the report to be written in casual fashion, and regrets any embarrassment the news item may have caused members of the family.

Jury Views Dispute Site

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury this morning visited a site near Flintstone which is subject to a condemnation suit filed by the State Roads Commission.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at the case filed by the SRC against Bland T. and Myrtle E. Gilson of Gilpinstown.

The proceedings involve 4 of an acre along old Route 40 that is between Flintstone and the new bridge across Town Creek.

The state deposited a check for $2,210 with the clerk of Circuit Court as its offer for the land.

Allan C. Fisher of LaVale is foreman of the jury which was taken to the location of the Gilson property this morning.

Matthew J. Mullaney represents the SRC while Earl E. Mangas is attorney for the Gilsons.

No Discount On 90 Days In Jail

Trial Magistrate Morris Baron this morning hung out the "No Discount" sign in court and sentenced an Eckhart man to 90 days in the Allegany County Jail.

Magistrate Baron sentenced David L. Green, 24, after finding him guilty of breaking and entering the Eckhart Elementary School on October 16.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, presented the state's case and introduced as evidence a statement Green had made concerning the case.

In the statement Green admitted entering the school and taking a typewriter. The day following the crime the Eckhart man left for Ohio where he was later apprehended by authorities there.

Green entered a plea of guilty and after being sentenced asked Magistrate Baron if he could discount the 22 days he has already spent in jail.

The magistrate replied he didn't believe in discounts, and the 90 days would have to be served.

Granted Permit

Junior O. Wilson, 55 Blackiston Avenue, has been granted a permit by the city engineer's office for the construction of a second-story addition to his dwelling.

Estimated cost of the addition is $4,780.

Censorship Of Films By Age Viewed

Council Expected To Take Action On Licensing Proposal

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Legislative Council is scheduled to take action today on a proposed bill permitting the Maryland Board of Motion Picture Censors to license some films for viewing only by persons 18 or older.

The council postponed a vote last night after a lively 3 1/2 hour public hearing, pending a written opinion by the attorney general's office on the constitutionality of the measure.

Asst. Atty. Gen. James H. Norris offered an oral opinion at the meeting that the bill would be constitutional and promised to have it put in writing today.

Sees Court Approval

"We have reviewed Supreme Court cases," Norris said. "We believe, though this specific question has not been ruled on by the court, that the Supreme Court would uphold such a law."

The censorship board, headed by C. Morton Goldstein, strongly urged backing of the bill which would allow the three-man board to license only for persons 18 and older films it determined to be obscene for younger viewers.

An obscene film was described as one "whose calculated purpose or dominant effect is substantially to arouse sexual desires" and if this effect outweighs other merits of the film.

Conviction of any theater employee for "knowingly" permitting a child to view the film would bring a fine of $25.

A stricter bill, dealing with such things as might be indecent, sacrilegious or immoral, was defeated 88-57 in the House of Delegates at the 1958 General Assembly.

Hearing Room Full

A crowd of about 150, most of them in favor of the bill, packed a City Hall room for the hearing which frequently became emotional. Cheers were provided for advocates of the measure, while opponents drew an occasional hiss from the crowd.

Goldstein cited cases in which theater programs have linked lectures and sale of literature on sex film. He also suggested that some operators have used the "for adults only" label as merely a "come-on" to attract children to films emphasizing sex.

Spokesmen in opposition to the bill included those against it on philosophical as well as legal grounds. Industry representatives said the age limit would be impossible to enforce.

Many Comments

Some comments offered during the hearing:

Fred G. Weisgal, American Civil Liberties Union—"We deplore any group telling the American people what they can and can't see. As soon as we start doing that we are no longer a democracy. The solution should not be censorship but parental guidance."

Michael Greene, the Catholic Review—"As the movie industry has failed to eliminate objectionable movies the State has the right to step in to protect not only the truth but all the people. The question of censorship does not enter into it."

State Sen. Frederick C. Malkus Jr. (D-Dorchester)—"Aren't the same pictures shown on television? Can't just as much harm be done?"

See Says TV Bad

Del. Lloyd Simpkins (D-Somerset)—"How can we tell what is going to arouse sexual desires in children under 16?"

Fred L. Dewberry Jr., the Archdiocesan Union of the Holy Name Society—"We know that in practice these resolutions (by movie owners) are not adhered to by all the operators in the state. There is an ever increasing influx of filth and immorality in pictures. The age should be changed from 16 to 18."

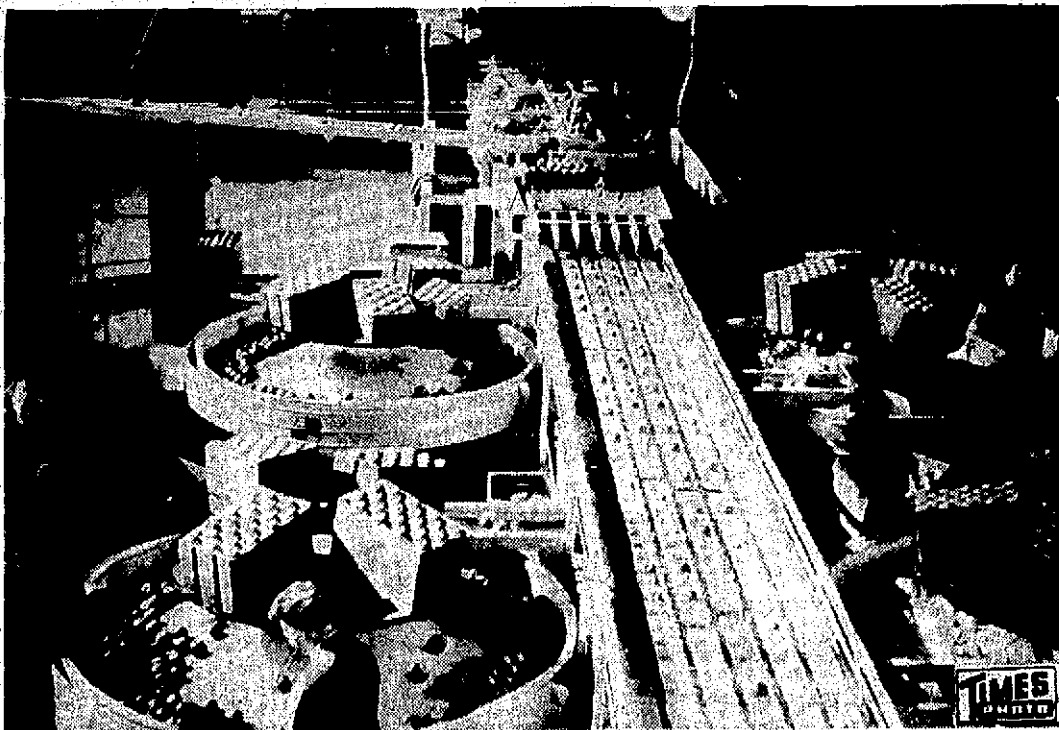

Said Sen. Charles M. See (R-Allegany), who is blind—"Television is just as bad as motion pictures. I can't see them but I can hear them. We ought to write to the Federal Communications Commission."

Del. Jerome Robinson (D-Balto 4th)—"Your board (Goldstein's) grants a seal to the picture and it appears it has the board's approval. Then do away with the seal completely and do away with censorship, or find a way to make it stick. Aren't those our two alternatives?"

Dairy Herd Group To Meet Monday

The directors of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in the office of County Agent Joseph Steger in the Court House.

John Tucker Mason, president, has announced the directors will discuss the possibility of acquiring another herd tester.

NEWEST TYPE PACKING LINE—The new packing line and part of the new equipment installed at the Paw Paw packing house of Consolidated Orchards Company is shown above. It is regarded in the industry as the biggest improvement in apple packing in the past 40 years. Some of the ideas worked into the custom-designed line were from Consolidated personnel. The view above, taken from a balcony, is slightly distorted and does not truly show the length of the line. At the top the apples are being hand graded with the top conveyor taking away the off sizes. The fruit then drops to the endless belt of six-cup graders and are dropped off automatically into the four rotating bins according to their weight. The packers can be seen as they hand select fruit for the tray-type boxes. Conveyors on either side of the bins carry the boxes to the shipping room. Not shown is another packing line used for bushel baskets and small plastic bags.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Red Rivals Reap Big Harvest

Convince Their Citizens U. S. Wants To Make War

By JOHN STROHM

Copyright 1958, NEA Service, Inc.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Politics and philosophy aside, you find both Russians and Chinese likeable.

As individuals they can be charming, fun-loving, serious, competent and witty. But just about the time you think you're close enough to them to discuss capitalism vs. Communism you run into a blind alley.

On the Moscow to Minsk plane I talked with a former Red Army captain, now an airplane pilot. We chatted pleasantly for a while about such topics as why there were no seat belts, about his salary of $350 a month. Then he blurted:

"Why is the United States trying to make war? Why did you send soldiers to Lebanon?"

I tried to explain that American troops only answered an appeal from the President of Lebanon and that our troops were to insure peace, not make war. He shook his head in disbelief.

"Why did you send Russian soldiers into Hungary?" I asked the pilot.

"That's different," he asserted. "Hungary is close to us. It's a Soviet country. We had an agreement to come to their aid if reactionaries or imperialists tried to upset their government."

It was the voice of an educated Russian; but the words were the parrot phrases of the official propaganda.

Among the less educated, such propaganda has an even stronger effect. Take the people at Collective Farm No. 12, near Minsk, which I had visited 12 years ago.

When I returned this summer, nearly 300 old men, women and children were lined up along the dirt street in front of their log cabins.

They surrounded me as I got out of the car. An old man hobbled forward to shake hands. I had taken his picture 12 years ago.

"Does anyone else remember me?" I asked.

"We all remember you," a woman spoke up.

I told them I was glad to be back, to see the progress they'd made. The children were curious, but the adults were painfully serious, almost sad. Finally one woman burst out:

"Why are you trying to make war on us?"

Others tried to hush her up, but she added bitterly: "You Americans don't know what war is really like."

I explained that our people did not want war any more than they did—and that I was personally convinced there would be no war. I pulled out a picture of my wife and six children and handed it to them.

"Do you think I'd be here if we wanted war?" I asked.

All of the people tried to look at the picture at once. I saw tears in the eyes of at least a dozen women. They wanted desperately to believe me but were so confused they could not.

These interviews closely paralleled talks with Chinese. There was the same sincere puzzlement over American "aggression," the same inability to grasp the truth because the mind had been poisoned by lies.

But there seem to be important differences between the attitudes of the two fled giants toward the U.S. and of their people.

On the government level, I do not believe the Soviet Union or Red China want war. Nor do I believe the leaders in Moscow and Peking think the U. S. is trying to start a war. But the Russians, having made some progress in industry and agriculture, seem less inclined to risk their gains when the chips are down.

The Chinese, however, appear to have a cocky confidence that Uncle Sam is a "paper tiger." They say they licked us in Korea—are willing to take us on again. If necessary, to recover what is "theirs." Indeed, this cockiness of Mao's Chinese seems to extend in some ways towards Russia, as well. They accept Soviet technical assistance and pay for it with the air of "we're paying for this—no strings attached."

Although nine out of 10 Russians seem to fear the U. S., they greet the American visitor with reproach, rather than hatred. At least, not the way the Russians hated the Nazis, nor the way the Poles hate the Russians.

But in Red China, young and old are mobilized into militia units on farms, factories, and campuses under the slogan "Repel the American aggressors." They are using this symbol of "Public Enemy No. 1" to build morale and increase production.

While the intensity of the "hate America" campaign is much greater in China than in Russia, I had the feeling it might be more propagandistic than personal. Otherwise I might not be alive today. I talked with many Chinese, even while hat-America parades were passing by.

I must say that, in both Communist nations, I was permitted to travel wherever I wanted to go, to talk with whomever I pleased, to take pictures of whatever I wanted to see.

In Russia, I was a guest of the Ministry of Agriculture for part of my stay. Three years ago, at the request of Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Agriculture Benson, I had shown Agriculture Minister Vladimir Malshevich and a dozen other top agriculture officials around the U. S., letting them "see what they wanted to see." I had the same opportunity in their country.

I was almost overwhelmed at times with Russian hospitality, including countless toasts to peace and friendship.

It's not easy for a non-drinker to beg off when they say: "You mean you won't drink to peace?" Once I tried another tack. I reminded them that Khrushchev had warned that vodka drinking is bad.

"That's right," they quipped. "That's why we're using an American to help us get rid of this bad thing so our people won't be tempted."

When I told Malshevich that I had offered to let Byelorussia's agricultural chief 100 rubles against one kopeck that there would be no war between our two countries, he deadpanned:

"You should not have done that. Now he will want to start a war."

The Soviet people are immensely likeable—even if their system is not.

Nobody dares question the system out loud. As in China, the decision has been made that the Party knows what's best for the people.

Eight million party members in Russia have the job of making the system work. And the job of the 100 million non-party members is to do the work. Only a Khrushchev, or a handful of others, can tamper with the fundamentals of the System. And even then they are careful to say that Lenin or Marx said it before they did.

Dynamiting Fresh Leads Being Sought

No Charge Placed Against Man Held in Morgantown Jail

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Authorities investigating Monday's school dynamiting at near-by Osage were reported checking out a possible fresh lead today.

Federal, state and local officers were at Osage. A Monongalia County deputy sheriff would say only that they were "looking for something."

Meanwhile, a white miner from Osage who was picked up Tuesday was still held in the county jail. No charge had been placed against him and authorities declined to identify him.

An officer did say that the man had several times engaged in fights with Negroes at Osage. Otherwise, there was said to have been close harmony between Negroes and whites in the town and the blast-wrecked school was integrated without incident about four years ago.

It was theorized that segregationists, possibly from out of the state, might have been responsible for the dynamiting which forced the school's 400 children to be sent to other schools. The building probably will have to be replaced at a cost of some $400,000.

Survivors include her husband, Francis A. Worth, a daughter, Miss S. Jane Worth, Wenchatchee, Wash., a step-daughter, Mrs. Frances E. Gramm, Hagerstown, a step-son, Bayard H. Worth, Hagerstown; three brothers, Charles, Barnett, Cumberland; Ralph, Barnett, Belair, Ohio; and Ned W. Barnett, Hagerstown; three sisters, Mrs. Guy A. Baskerville and Mrs. Harry Menhorn, both of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Vernon Adams, Cumberland, and seven grandchildren.

The body is at the Sellers Funeral Home here where services will be conducted on Saturday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Paul E. Myers. Interment will be in the Lincoln Cemetery here.

Mrs. Walter Metcalf — Mrs. Walter Metcalf, 56, of 590 West Harrison Street, died last night in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where she had been admitted October 26.

She was a native of Barton, and wife of Walter Metcalf.

Survivors include two sons by a former marriage, William Ahern Jr., Barton, and Richard Ahern, Baltimore; a daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Robert Moorehead, at home; two sisters, Mrs. A. A. Boylance, Grafton, and Mrs. Michael Monahan, Baltimore, and nine grandchildren.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home in Westernport where services will be conducted on Saturday at 2 p. m. by Rev. W. G. Wilson Jr., pastor of St. James Episcopal Church. Interment will be in Philips Cemetery.

Moses Bear — Moses Bear, 84, former mayor of Lonaconing, died Tuesday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Levy, Baltimore.

Mr. Bear operated a men's clothing store in Lonaconing for more than 60 years. His business was first located in the Brady House Building and later located on Main Street. In 1929 he sold the business to James Park and Thomas Holmes and had resided in Baltimore since that time.

Mixture Used By French Cooks

French cooks like to add a mixture of onion, celery and carrots (all finely diced) plus peppercorns, bay leaf and a branch of thyme to meat and fish being cooked in the oven.

Pretty Touch

Give grapefruit halves a pretty touch: center each with a few cubes of red jelly, a maraschino cherry and a sprig of fresh mint, or a round of peeled orange.

Thyme In Chowder

Add a pinch of thyme to ready-prepared clam chowder for an intriguing touch.

Use Timetable To Roast Holiday Turkey

THE KING and his court: The lordly Thanksgiving turkey, attended by a plate of herb buttered vegetables and tiers of succulent spiced pears, apples and sliced carrots and celery.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

To get the newest techniques in roasting the lordly Thanksgiving turkey, we consulted Kathryn B. Niles, noted home economics director of The Poultry and Egg National Board in Chicago.

Here are some of her suggestions:
Don't guess how long to roast your turkey. Use the chart below. It gives the approximate time required to roast fresh or completely thawed birds. Unstuffed turkeys require approximately 5 minutes per pound less time. Differences in individual birds may necessitate increasing or decreasing cooking time slightly.

Ready-to-Cook Weight (pounds)	Oven Temperature (slow oven) degrees F.	Total Cooking Time (hours—stuffed bird)
6 to 8	325	3 1/2 to 4
8 to 12	325	4 to 4 1/2
12 to 16	325	4 1/2 to 5 1/2
16 to 20	325	5 1/2 to 7
20 to 24	325	7 to 8 1/2

If you buy a dressed turkey, subtract 15 to 20 per cent of the dressed weight to obtain the approximate ready-to-cook weight.

When dinner is set for a definite hour, start the bird 20 to 30 minutes ahead of schedule to avoid delay should the turkey take longer to cook than estimated. This also allows time to make gravy, remove trussing cords, and arrange the bird attractively on the platter.

After the bird is done:

Allow the bird to stand in roasting pan 15 to 30 minutes so that juices may be absorbed. Remove all trussing equipment, such as skewers and cord. Place the bird on a warm large platter. Use a simple garnish. Don't overdo it. Carve at table so everyone can enjoy the full glamour. Carve with a very sharp, thin-bladed knife and a fork with a guard. Carve enough meat at one time to serve all the guests.

Miss Niles suggests celery, carrots (both cut on bias), lima beans and kernel corn, all seasoned with herb butter for the feast. Her centerpiece is a straw turkey basket with bitter-sweet chrysanthemums and wood roses.

Herb Butter for Thanksgiving Vegetables (Makes 6-8 servings). One-half cup butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon minced chives, pinch of marjoram, pinch of rosemary, 3 cup hot, quick-cooked vegetables (celery, corn, limas, peas, carrots, or other favorites).

Heat butter or margarine to a golden brown; avoid burning. Add chives and herbs. Pass hot herb butter in preheated small pitcher. Or, drizzle over vegetables in vegetable dish.

THANKSGIVING DINNER: Shrimp cocktail, roast turkey, garlic-flavored bread stuffing, gelatin, whipped potatoes, sliced carrots and celery, kernel corn and lima beans with herb butter, spiced apples and spiced pears, yeast rolls, butter or margarine, steamed chocolate pudding, hard sauce, nuts and raisins; fruit bowl, coffee, tea, milk, cider.

Peaches Brighten Up Hot Cereal

Brighten bowls of hot cereal with golden slices of canned cling peaches.

Use syrup from canned fruit to sweeten cereal. Pass milk or cream and hot buttered raisin toast.

When your baby is ready for his first taste of solid food, take it easy! Offer no more than a tiny sample of the food on the end of a spoon. Gradually offer more until baby is really used to the new flavor and texture.

Lemon Dressing For Broccoli

Your vegetable for the Thanksgiving dinner can be just as "special" as the rest of the meal. This recipe for broccoli will be easy to prepare during the hour before serving time, because it calls for a minimum of ingredients and effort, but a maximum of eating pleasure.

Broccoli With Lemon Mayonnaise. Cook a one pound bunch or one package frozen broccoli in enough boiling, salted water to barely cover vegetable until broccoli stems are tender when pierced with a fork. (Takes about 10 to 15 minutes.) Be sure the pan is uncovered and the heat high. Then drain and serve with this easy and delicious Lemon Mayonnaise. Stir 2 tablespoons fresh or bottled lemon juice and a good dash of paprika into 1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing. Heat sauce over low heat. Spread sauce over broccoli just before serving.

Cream Reminder

Don't take heavy cream out of the refrigerator a minute before you are ready to beat it.

Beans Given Extra Fillip

Who says you can't give a vegetable an extra fillip? Soyory Broiled Chicken. Mashed Potatoes Orange Carrots. Special Green Beans Rolls. Apple Tarts Beverage. Special Green Beans.

Ingredients: 1 pound snap beans, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup sliced Brazil nuts, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Method: Cut ends from beans and wash thoroughly in cold water; drain. Cut beans into long, narrow strips. Cook rapidly in a small amount of boiling salted water until just tender—crisp, tender saucepan but lift cover a few times to help keep beans green. Drain off any liquid in saucepan. Meanwhile, melt butter over low heat in small skillet. Add oil and cook slowly 5 minutes or until butter is slightly brown; stir often. Stir in lemon juice. Pour over hot drained cooked beans. Makes 6 servings.

Tasty Bread Spread

Small fry delight: Peanut butter spread on toast or plain bread and topped with slices of ripe banana. Good on raisin bread, too.

The female shrimp lays half a million eggs in her lifetime, of which only two, one male and one female, survive. Yet the shrimp industry is valued at $225 million annually, and is the largest single fishery product in dollar volume.

Macaroni Dish Needs Tossing

This simple, tasty dish needs vigorous tossing just before serving.

If you like to put on a show, arrange the sauce ingredients artistically on a tray and make the sauce at the table.

Cook an 8-ounce package of macaroni in 3 quarts of water for about ten minutes. While it's cooking, assemble the following ingredients: 2 cups grated cheddar cheese, 1/4 cup chili sauce, 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 cup melted butter, salt and coarsely ground pepper. Drain macaroni and spread on the hot platter. Sprinkle the other ingredients over it and toss vigorously with two forks until the sauce coats each piece.

Thanksgiving Table Preserves Tradition

THANKSGIVING SETTING... The Mayflower and pilgrims land on drip-dry cotton cloth used over a festive apricot-colored under cloth. Paint the walls to match for Autumn.

You can look for a traditional Thanksgiving table this year, if advance notices are any indication. The oversized turkey platter is in great demand, cornucopias are favorites for centerpieces of fruit, gourds or what-have-you, and the American theme is being played to the hilt.

An unusual new cloth depicting the landing of the Mayflower is another evidence of traditional feeling. It may be used with an undercloth of one of the Autumn tones—gold or russet to emphasize the design of the ship and Pilgrims landing on the table. The Mayflower cloth in a creamy natural color is woven of cotton, easy to wash and drip dry. Decorate the table with Autumn leaves and clusters of grapes, perhaps Gay, cheery colors are good choices for dining rooms as these hues are said to stimulate appetite and conversation. There are some colors that may be nauseating—yellows and yellow-greens, as airlines found. Apricot and melon are gay colors for Autumn, and through the winter, dreary or cheery.

Deep colors are warm, friendly and gracious, an excellent choice for the dining room. Blue dining room walls with a deeper blue ceiling may be especially attractive with bright white. If you dine in an alcove of the living room, you can combine some compatible colors—a turquoise-walled living room, for instance, may gain distinction when the dining alcove is painted a deep moss green. Or perhaps you'd like a honey-beige living room with tangerine accents to balance off a dining area painted in a tangerine hue.

The most important thing about BAKING

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs the leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven... That's the story of Clabber Girl's balanced double action.

Green Beans In New Way

Baked Smoked Boneless Pork Shoulder Butt
Baked Potatoes
Buttered Cauliflower
Keweenaw Sweet Pickled Green Beans
Bread Tray Fruit Beverage
Keweenaw Sweet Pickled Green Beans

Ingredients: 1/4 cup cooking liquid from snap beans or water, 1/2 cup cider vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, white pepper, 1/4 teaspoon turmeric, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, 1 pound snap beans (cooked).

Method: Put the bean cooking liquid or water, vinegar, salt, dash of pepper, turmeric, curry powder and sugar in a saucepan; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to a boil. Pour over snap beans. Cover and refrigerate overnight.

Note: To prepare snap beans cut tips away and scrub in cold water; cut each bean in half crosswise and lengthwise. Cook beans in 1/2 cup boiling water with 1/4 teaspoon salt just until tender—crisp, about 4 minutes. Drain, reserving any bean liquid for marinade and use as directed above.

Shrimping, which now brings in an annual catch of about 220,000,000 pounds, did not put out to sea until 1917. It was at this time that the small off-shore boats were replaced by ocean-going trawlers and the industry began its big-time career.

Pork And Leg Of Lamb Put On Best Buy List

By The Associated Press

Leg of lamb and a bewildering array of pork cuts are featured by supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this weekend. If the shopper in your house is budget conscious, look for one of these items on the dinner table.

Pork specials includes fresh and smoked hams and picnic hams, pork shoulder, ribs, and loin, bacon and sausage in bulk and link form. Chuck roast is about the only beef featured widely.

Some stores are offering frying chickens for 33 cents a pound. Judging from wholesale prices, lamb will remain a bargain since it was lower at wholesale this week. Hams, bellies (source of bacon), steers and hogs were higher. Eggs up two to four cents a pound in some areas and off two cents in others.

Supplies of fresh vegetables are holding up well. Cabbage is one of the best buys. Other outstanding buys are endive, escarole, lettuce and potatoes. Good buys are snap beans, broccoli, carrots, cauliflower, yellow and green squash and onions.

Eggplant is down a bit, making it a fairly good buy along with celery, cucumbers, sweet corn and sweet potatoes.

Apples are plentiful and cheap. Most other fruits are relatively scarce.

Frozen orange juice is expected to stay costly this winter, a carry-over from last year's Florida freeze. Juice freezers there contracted for fruit at prices almost double year-ago levels and cold storage stocks in late October totaled only 19 million gallons, off 10 millions from 1957.

Macaroni With Cheese, Bacon

Add bacon to the ever-popular baked macaroni and cheese and you have a new and pleasing luncheon dish.

For 4 to 6 servings, add 1 tablespoon salt to 3 quarts rapidly boiling water. Gradually add 2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ounces) so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Cook 1/2 pound sliced bacon over low heat 5 minutes. Drain. Combine macaroni, salt and pepper to taste and 1 8-ounce jar processed American cheese spread; mix well. Turn into greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Top with bacon. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes.

Tip To Shorten Bean Cooking

Add 1/2 teaspoon of baking soda for every cup of dried beans you are cooking if you want to shorten the cooking time.

Always cover beans with water and boil them for 2 minutes before soaking them (one hour or overnight) before cooking.

Use For Foil

Cover the bone tips of a crown roast with foil before the meat goes into the oven to prevent their charred appearance.

Before you broil fish steaks or filets, brush them with garlic butter.

Meat, Coconut Blend In Appetizer

Meatball appetizers are always popular, but you can vary the kind you serve. Here are some that will surprise your friends. You'll need about 2 cans of flaked coconut for these Coconut Meatballs.

Slightly beat 2 or 3 eggs (about 1/2 cup), add 1-1/2 cup flour, 1 teaspoon pepper to make a batter. Combine 2 1/2 pounds finely ground beef, 1 tablespoon salt and 1 teaspoon minced garlic. Shape into balls about the size of walnuts.

Dip in the batter, drain slightly on a rack, then roll in flaked coconut. Fry in deep fat (350 degree F.) 2 or 3 minutes, or until coconut is golden brown and meat is cooked. Makes about 6 dozen balls.

Hunt In Sauce

Leftover baked ham in the refrigerator? Dice it and serve it in an à la king sauce. Just as you would chicken.

What Is In Name

The French phrase, court bouillon, often seen in American cooking directions, means a seasoned fish broth.

Before stuffing green peppers parboil them in salted water for a couple of minutes.

PAINT AND HARDWARE
E. MAIN — FROSTBURG

FROSTBURG—Washington District of the Church of the Nazarene Home Missions Department will hold a zone rally tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Church of the Nazarene at Charles and Centre Streets.

Ten churches of the Cumberland zone will be represented. The service will be an inspiration rally to help members see the need of home missions work. Touring the district will be Rev. E. E. Grosse, D.D., district superintendent; Rev. James Boggs, chairman of Home Missions, and the main speaker of the evening, Rev. Mark R. Moore, superintendent of the Chicago Central District of the Church of the Nazarene. Rev. Joseph D. Byers is the host pastor.

Since 1952 Rev. Moore of Kankakee, Ill., has superintended the Chicago district. Earlier he was active as superintendent of the Northwest Oklahoma District for four years, an Army chaplain and a college professor. Rev. Moore began his ministry as pastor of Church of the Nazarene in Goose Creek, Texas, in 1938. He continued the pastorate until 1944 when he assumed duties as chaplain with the 106th Division, artillery, overseas.

While with the Army, Rev. Moore was "twice captured, twice liberated, and twice bombed." His second liberation was effected by the 86th Division in which his brother, Maj. J. E. Moore Jr., was serving as chaplain. The unexpected meeting of the brothers, as well as many other war experiences, is related in Rev. Moore's book, "Prisoner of the Germans."

Rev. Moore received both the AB and Th B degrees from Belhany-Peniel College, Bethany, Okla., and did graduate study at Baylor University, Waco, Texas, completing requirements for the MA degree in 1946. He served as professor of Biblical literature at Belhany-Peniel from 1946 to 1948. He is married and has two sons.

Rotary Club Hears Stereo Sound Talk

FROSTBURG — Howard Plummer presented a demonstration on stereo sound at Monday night's meeting of the Frostburg Rotary Club in Zion United Church of Christ.

Plummer pointed out that with the new sound system a person may listen to an orchestra and hear sounds coming from the direction in which the instrument was located at the time of playing. He showed how the new sound is recorded by means of a standard record, and pointed out that regular Hi-Fi records could be played on the new machines. However, new stereo records cannot be played on Hi-Fi machines without damage to the record.

Peter Lukas, chairman of the Pancake Day sale scheduled for November 22, announced that all plans have been completed and tickets will be ready for distribution within the next few days. The second annual event will be held in the American Legion Home, beginning at 7 a. m. and closing at 8 p. m.

According to the board of directors, a donation from the proceeds will be made to the new scoreboard being erected by the Boosters Club at Beall High School. All funds over that donation will go to the Beall High School Library.

Next week's meeting will be in charge of Thomas V. Baucum.

Directors also announced that the annual Christmas party for Rotarians and their children or guests will be held December 15 instead of December 22 as previously announced. The program will be in charge of Howard F. Ward.

Couple Marks Anniversary

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Kidwell, 54 Ormond Street, were honored with a recent open house in observance of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The table was centered with a three-tiered cake, and decorations followed the fall flower motif.

Mrs. W. Joseph Kidwell, a daughter-in-law, served the cake and Mrs. Martha Filsinger presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Bernard Wade, Miss Sherry O'Neal and Miss Joan Kidwell assisted with the serving. Mrs. Thomas McMoran had charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Kidwell, the former Margaret Twigg, and her husband were married November 3, 1933 in Keyser Methodist Church by Rev. Sinclair Allen. They have four children, Joan, a teacher at Northeast School, Cumberland; Mary Susan, Fort Devens, Mass.; Joseph, an employee of the State Roads Commission, and Eugene, a student at Frostburg State Teachers College, and three grandchildren.

Frostburg Student Awarded 4-H Prize

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Four Montgomery County girls have received top honors in 4-H work. They are Opal King, 18, of near Gaithersburg; Betty Mae King, 18, of near Monrovia; Laura Jane Linn, 16, of Clarksville; and Dotie Ann Umstead, of near Olney. The first three have been selected for an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago November 30-December 4. Miss Umstead, a former winner of a 4-H Congress trip, is a sophomore at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Champion Conservation Farmer Of W. Va. Named

JACKSON'S MILL — Edward Bumgarner of Letart, Mason County, operator of a 205-acre dairy farm, is West Virginia's champion conservation farmer for 1958. Announcement of the winner of the State Soil Conservation contest was made today at the annual meeting of the West Virginia Soil Conservation District Supervisors' Association at the State 4-H Camp here.

By following a soil and water conservation program, Mr. and Mrs. Bumgarner in six short years have turned an unproductive five-rundown farm into a farm that is highly productive and one that shows even more promise for the future. This is a good example of what can be accomplished where a young family has the desire to farm and requests the help available from farm agencies such as the Soil Conservation Service, the Farmers Home Administration, the Agricultural Extension Service, and the Agricultural Conservation Program.

Production Increased
As an example of the progress that has been made, one 30-acre pasture on the farm when it was purchased in 1952 carried only six cows from the start of the grazing season until June 1. Now, 25 milking cows and replacements are pastured on 50 acres of tall-grass pasture during the entire summer. The first year, the land produced about 75 bales of hay per acre. This year, the production was 120 bales per acre. Corn has increased from 60 bushels to 85 bushels per acre. There has been a corresponding increase in small grain production.

Fifty-five acres of pasture have been disked and reseeded to orchard grass and ladino clover. A third of the pasture is treated each year with 12-12-12 fertilizer. An additional 20 acres of pasture are to be reseeded. All the land has been limed to test. The crop-land is in a five-year rotation of corn followed by small grain and three years of meadow. Bumgarner uses a mixture of alfalfa and orchard grass or alfalfa and timothy in his meadows. All cropland is strip cropped. The corn goes into the silo.

Six acres of sudan grass were planted this year for the first time for supplementary summer pasture. Bumgarner was highly pleased with the results, pointing out that milk production took a jump when the cows were turned in and dropped off when the grazing season ended. Production last year averaged about 10,000 pounds per cow for the 25 cows milked.

Two farm ponds and five water troughs have been constructed so that all pasture fields have water in them. An outstanding job has been done with the 38 acres of woodland on the farm. The woodland has been fenced and improvement cuttings made. In 1954, 87,000 board feet of saw timber were cut from the woodland.

Had to Buy Hay
Bumgarner points out that it was necessary to spend $1,500 each year to buy hay the first three years he lived on the farm. Since then, he has been able to produce all the hay needed. This is another example of how production has increased. Bumgarner has plans to expand his dairy herd as he increases the productivity of his farm. What has been done on this farm, he says, can

A $50 savings bond from the State Awards Committee and a pen and pencil set awarded by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Beckley Area Rural Development Council. Each county winner and his wife received a trip to Jackson's Mill to attend the annual meeting of the West Virginia Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

Other Winners Listed
Second place in the state competition went to Earl Kid, Greenbrier County, who was the winner in the Greenbrier Valley Soil Conservation District. His award is an all-expense trip to the area meeting of the National Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors — plus a $50 savings bond given by the Beckley Area Rural Development Council.

A Hampshire County farm owned by Roy L. Saville placed third in the state contest and was the winner in the Potomac Valley Soil Conservation District. The award was a $100 savings bond from the State Awards Committee — plus a $25 savings bond given by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Other district winners were Allen H. Kerns, Morgan County, Eastern Panhandle SCD; Harold Strawn, Ohio County, Northern Panhandle SCD; Owen Lutz, Randolph County, Tygaris Valley SCD; Arthur H. Brown, Nicholas County, Elk SCD; Wendell Eisentrout, Preston County, Monongahela SCD; Dr. D. L. Flesher, Summers County, Southern SCD; Jarrett Newlon, Roane County, Little Kanawha SCD; A. ### Lay Health Group To Hold Christmas Luncheon Dec. 4

CRESAPTOWN — The Cresaptown and Potomac Valley Lay Health Group met recently at the Cresaptown School Health Center with Mrs. James Armstrong presiding. Routine reports were given by Mrs. James Ritchie and Mrs. Lester McGill. Assigned as aides to assist Miss Margaret Morrissey, health nurse, at the school inspection clinics were: Today, Mrs. Donnelly Kiddell and December 2, Mrs. Frank Ferrone.

A child hygiene conference will be held November 25. Workers include Mrs. Hubert Martz, Mrs. James Niner, Mrs. William Riley, Mrs. Thomas Beachy and Mrs. McGill.

A pre-natal clinic at the Cumberland City Hall will be worked by Mrs. Harry Grimes. The clinic each Wednesday morning will be in charge of Mrs. A. G. Wallis; Mrs. Aden Everstine, psychiatric social worker for the Allegany County Health Department, who is presenting a series of lectures on mental hygiene to the group, spoke on the development of children and teenagers from nine through 15 years of age.

After the talk she conducted a discussion period.

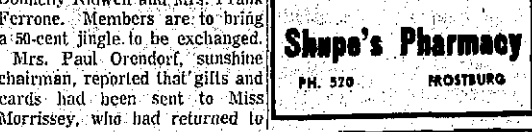

The group voted to donate draperies for a day room in the newly constructed Esther Loring Richards Children's Center at Owings. Named to purchase the draperies were Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Ritchie and Mrs. Paul Holter, whose brother is a nurse at the center.

The group voted to hold its annual Christmas luncheon at the next meeting, December 4 at 12:30 p. m. in the Health Center. Members desiring to attend are to contact Mrs. Armstrong, general chairman, who will be assisted by Mrs. Fernen Helmstetter, Mrs. Paul Orendorf, Mrs. Donnelly Kiddell and Mrs. Frank Ferrone. Members are to bring a 50-cent jingle to be exchanged.

Mrs. Paul Orendorf, sunshine chairman, reported that gifts and cards had been sent to Miss Morrissey, who had returned to her home after being a medical patient at Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Earl Moreland and Mrs. John Barton were enrolled as new members.

Yule Street Decorations In Readiness

FROSTBURG—John S. Cook, chairman of the Frostburg Promotion Committee of the Frostburg Business Association, today announced that Christmas street decorations for the city will be installed in the business area from Grant to Water Streets within the next few weeks.

Cook pointed out that members of the association have been working with the Potomac Edison Company, checking stringers, testing lights and wrapping White Pine roping around the stringers. The area will be decorated by Thanksgiving, and the lights will officially be lighted in a ceremony on the Friday following Thanksgiving.

Letters have been mailed to business houses, fraternal and social organizations and professional persons, acquainting them with the costs and asking for a donation to defray expenses.

The cost last year was nearly $900. If a sufficient amount of money is not collected this year, the association will be unable to put up decorations in 1959. Other members of Cook's committee are Howard Ward, Robert Bachman, Edna Griffith, Nancy Van Fossen, Howard Shuman and Robert Hohing.

Woman Dies As Result Of Fall On Steps

Daughters Went To Charleston To Bring Mother Back Home

An elderly Cumberland woman was fatally injured yesterday when she fell down a flight of stairs at the home of her brother in Charleston, W. Va.

The victim, Mrs. Jane (Hamilton) Leasure, of 611 Elm Street, died instantly, Coroner Goff Lilly of Charleston said that death resulted from a fractured skull.

Mrs. Leasure has been visiting her brother, Lawson W. Hamilton, when she tripped and fell down the basement steps as she entered the home by a side door on her return from a grocery store.

Ironically, two of Mrs. Leasure's three daughters, Mrs. Howard Nesbitt and Mrs. Bessie Henry, both of Cumberland, arrived in Charleston yesterday to drive their mother back to Cumberland, only to find that she had died.

Besides her brother and two daughters, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Joseph Wilkins, Miami Beach, Fla.; a son, Thurman Leasure, Cocoa, Fla.; three grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

She was a member of the Kingsley Methodist Church.

The body is at the Haler Funeral Home.

Many Parents Visit School During Week

Cresaptown School observed American Education week with visitors' day and two assembly programs.

Two hundred parents visited the school and made over 350 room contacts.

Hostesses for visitors' day were Mrs. Mary Lewis, Mrs. Anna Ruth Glessner, Mrs. Mary Frances Cage, Mrs. Sheila Riley, Mrs. Margaret Wolford, Mrs. Ruth Niner, Mrs. Marguerite Richardson and Mrs. Phyllis Richardson.

The intermediate assembly program consisted of poems, story telling, book reports, and a puppet show. Prizes were awarded to Steven Vandenberg, Duane Weaver and Loun Boyce for their posters in the poster contest held earlier in the week.

The junior high assembly portrayed the contrast between old and new schools, showing type of education 30 years ago compared to a typical day at Cresaptown School.

Glenn Hanna's group showed the old school and Oberlin Chapey's group showed a day at Cresaptown. Curriculum of today has been changed to offer more varied experiences to the students who have to meet problems in a more complex world. The program also included songs, dances, tumbling and recitations.

The budget and finance committee of Cresaptown PTA is sponsoring a rummage sale tomorrow from 4:30 until 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Oldtown Plans Fun Night Event

The Oldtown School Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor its annual fun night and talent show tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Calvin Wolfe is chairman of the overall project while James Skidmore is heading arrangements for the talent event that will get under way at 8:30 p.m.

There will be five prizes awarded for both the high school and elementary grade participants.

The various chairmen are: Bean throw, Miss Mable Twigg; dart games, Granville Cannon; grab bags, Mrs. Leah Bohrer; fish pond, Mrs. Phyllis Bowers and Mrs. Ghay Athey; bake sale, Mrs. Joseph Herschut and Mrs. Joseph Steger; candy sale, Mrs. Eugene Carter; refreshments, Mrs. Irvin Allen and Mrs. James Cook; soft drinks, Ronald Kellough and Joseph Pellerie; coffee, Mrs. Roy Twigg, and popcorn, Mrs. Nellie Nixon.

A cartoon room and a record hop will also be available.

Area Apples Under Study

Two nearly obsolete varieties of apples have been found in Allegany County and taken to the U. S. Department of Agriculture laboratory at Beltsville for study.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger said a half bushel each of Wolf River and Ben Davis were finally located after considerable inquiry by himself and James Arnold, assistant county agent.

A graduate researcher at the department's laboratory will conduct studies into the reasons for this type of apples not turning brown or oxidizing as fast as others when cut open.

Steger said the Wolf River were contributed by Delbert Knippenberger, Irons Mountain orchardist, and the Ben Davis from Ted Crabtree of Oldtown.

FAIR WORKERS FETED—The Cumberland Fair Association entertained the workers who assisted with the annual fair last August at a dinner last night at the LaVale Fire Hall. Some of the department heads and other officials are shown prior to the dinner. Seated in front, left to right, are Mrs. Arthur Phillips and Mrs. Edward Lewis. Standing, same order, are R. H. McHenry, Joseph M. Steger, C. O. Smith Jr., Mary Wise, Harry J. Barton, general manager of the fair association, Floyd Buser and K. M. Malone. The operations of this year's fair were reviewed and possible improvements outlined.

Forest Blaze Extinguished On Polish Mt.

A forest fire on the east side of Polish Mountain in a remote section of Green Ridge State Forest was extinguished last night by personnel of the forest and boys from the Green Ridge camp.

The fire, apparently started by a hunter, covered a half acre before it was brought under control, William A. Johnson, district forester, said today.

Heading the firefighting unit was Floyd Custer, forest superintendent. Thomas Dixon, forest guard, and ten boys from the Green Ridge rehabilitation camp.

The fire started about 4 p.m. and was brought under control by 7:30 p.m.

Johnson said this was the first fire in the area since last Thursday. That one covered 45 acres of woodland on Dan's Mountain southeast of Lonaconing.

An investigation is being conducted by the forestry department, Johnson said, to determine the cause.

The rain Friday and Saturday helped to quench the extensive smoldering fire. But the conditions of the forests are back in the hazardous stage due to the high winds of yesterday drying of the surface of the ground.

Johnson appealed to hunters who are numerous in the woods today to observe the safety first rules concerning fires and smoking.

Gus Muntzing Named Judge By Governor

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gus Muntzing, 53, Morefield Republican, was appointed by Gov. Cecil H. Underwood as judge of West Virginia's 22nd Judicial Circuit, embracing Hardy, Hampshire and Pendleton Counties.

Muntzing was named to succeed Judge Harlan M. Calhoun, who was elected Nov. 4 to an unexpired two-year term to the West Virginia Supreme Court. Calhoun's judicial term had two years to run and Muntzing will serve in the post until the next election.

A native of Strehly, Grant County, Muntzing, elected in 1956 to the House of Delegates, but did not run for re-election. He is a law graduate of West Virginia University.

Muntzing's brother, Jerome, is general field supervisor for the State Liquor Commission.

Oldtown Man Appeals Fine

An appeal was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by an Oldtown area man who was fined $100 on a charge of spotlighting deer.

The appeal was filed by Taylor Junior Vanmeter. He was arrested on November 12 by Game Warden Frederick J. Taylor on Warrior Mountain near Williams Road.

He was charged with violating the state game laws by spotlight hunting deer with firearms in his possession.

Dayton Lewis, trial magistrate at Oldtown, found him guilty the next day and fined him $100 and ordered him to pay $5 costs.

On 'Critical' List

William L. Feeney, 48, of 607 Greenway Avenue, a city fireman, is reported in "critical" condition at Memorial Hospital.

Where he was admitted November 12 following a car accident near Paw Paw.

Attaches said the local fireman had improved since the accident, but suffered a relapse yesterday. His wife, Mrs. Stella J. Feeney, sustained an arm injury in the crash and is reported in "good" condition at the hospital.

Traditional Pattern Seen For Observance Of Holiday

Cumberland area residents will find little difference, marketwise, in the observance of Thanksgiving next week, a check of markets revealing that the price of turkeys—the traditional fare—is almost identical with that charged last year.

The customary pep rallies will be held at Allegany, Fort Hill and LaSalle high schools prior to dismissal for the holiday period next Wednesday, and in addition to those pep rallies and bonfires will be held next Wednesday evening.

Churches will also observe the holiday, and at least one union service will be held on Thanksgiving morning. That one will be held at First Presbyterian Church at 10:30 a. m., with Centre Street Methodist and St. Luke's Lutheran churches participating.

Speaker at the union service will be Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor of Centre Street Church. His sermon will be on "Reasonable Thanks." Assisting in the service will be Rev. Maurice D. Robertson, host pastor, and Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor of St. Luke's Church. Music will be by the First Presbyterian Choir, under direction of Herman Smith.

The traditional football game between Fort Hill and Allegany will have added color during halftime when programs will be conducted by students of the two schools.

A check of area markets shows the price of turkeys is within a few cents of what they cost last year, and indications are that most families will sit down to the traditional meal, with "all the fixings."

The family will receive friends at the funeral home today from 7 to 9 p. m. and tomorrow from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. Members of Potomac Lodge will conduct graveside services.

Mrs. Sarah Logue, 72, of here, died this morning at her home following a long illness.

A native of Buffalo Mills, Pa., she was born April 12, 1886, a daughter of the late Adam and Maria (Smith) Smith. Her husband, Henry Logue, preceded her in death.

Survivors include a son, John W. Logue, Akron; two daughters, Mrs. Hilda Logsdon, of here, and Mrs. Ruth Hilegass, of Lyons, N. Y.; a brother, Morris Smith, Ellerslie; six grandchildren and a great grandchild.

The body will be at the Zeigler Funeral Home here after tomorrow morning.

Services will be conducted at the funeral home on Sunday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Charles Raley. Interment will be in Lybarger Cemetery.

John E. Rankin, 57, of 408 Hammond Street, died today at Fairmont Emergency Hospital. Mr. Rankin, a freight conductor for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, had been stricken with a heart attack last night near Fairmont while working and was taken to the hospital.

He was a son of the late John and Capita (Simpson) Rankin. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary (Rhodes) Rankin; two daughters, Miss Eleanor Rankin and Mrs. Gloria Densmore, both at home; four sons, Gerald, Bernard and Raymond Rankin, also at home, and Norman Rankin, with the Army at Fort Benning, Ga.; three sisters, Mrs. Robert Derham, Westernport, and Mrs. Doris Rankin and Mrs. Willy Copeland, both of Arlington, Va., and three brothers, Adrian Rankin.

Hospital Charity Fund Outlined In Magazine

Memorial Hospital's Employees' Charity Fund is praised in an article published this month by "Hospital Management," a magazine published in Chicago.

Author of the story is John A. Moberly, superintendent of the local institution.

The article explains how the hospital's fund, one of the first in Allegany County, aids the various charitable organizations in the county.

In the story, Moberly points out that before the plan was started employees of the hospital were approached by representatives of the various organizations such as Red Cross, Community Chest, Crippled Children's League, Heart Fund, Polio Fund, Cancer Fund and others for contributions.

It became obvious that regardless of how worthy these various endeavors were, the hospital employees' time and the time of many employees in making solicitations was creating administrative problems.

The idea of an employees' charity fund was presented and accepted by all employees and administrative workers of the institution.

Under the program each employee contributes one-quarter of one per cent of their salary each payday to be deducted from their salary via a payroll deduction program.

State Ruling Affirmed In Compensation

A ruling in a decision of the Maryland Workmen's Compensation Commission was upheld today in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The commission had disallowed a claim filed by Philip Barkman against the Cumberland Steel Company.

In a directed verdict for the defendant company, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris disallowed the claim affirming the decision of the commission.

The main issue of the case was over the statute of limitations covering the filing date of the application from the time the injury occurred.

The injury, according to testimony, occurred on September 9, 1954, and it was not until after the year's limit that the claim was filed.

Thomas B. Flinn represented the company and Milton Gerson the defendant.

After the instructions were read by the judge, the jury with John Estes as foreman was excused.

Youths Held In Robberies

Four young Mineral County youths have been picked up by authorities in connection with a series of thefts and breaking and enterings in the Piedmont area.

One of the youths, a 17-year-old boy who has been on parole from the Pruntytown (W. Va.) institution for boys, is being held in Mineral County Jail, Keyser, while the other three have been released to the custody of their parents.

Two of the group are 14 years old, while the other is only nine years old.

Chief of Police Charles Spiker of Piedmont said the group will be given a hearing before Justice of Peace Madelyn Bazzie in her capacity as juvenile magistrate.

The boys will be charged with breaking and entering Piedmont High School on September 30 and with the theft of material from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company station in Piedmont earlier this month.

Baltimore and Ohio police assisted Chief Spiker in the investigation.

Hainsfurther Aims Strike Negotiations

Evaluation Made In Letter To All Works 7 Employees

A review of the contract sections which have prevented a settlement of the negotiations between the Pittsburgh Plate Company and the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union is included in a letter to employees of the firm's Works 7 plant here from R. M. Hainsfurther, plant manager.

In his letter, Hainsfurther says it is his opinion that the position of the North Branch plant is different from any of the other PPG plants affected by the strike.

His evaluation of the issues, in part, follows:

"The Cumberland plant was built primarily to supply twin ground mirror glass to mirror manufacturers. Cumberland has the only twin grinder operated by Pittsburgh Plate Glass. No other Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant at present can produce this twin ground product. Cumberland will also be the plant where the first twin polished glass will be produced.

Security Predicted

"There is no doubt, many production problems must be solved before these operations will be perfected, but out of this should come a superior product for mirror glazing quality plate glass. All of this means security for Cumberland employees. During the past two years you have had the steadiest kind of employment. If we haven't lost many of our customers to other domestic and foreign producers when this strike is over, you should still have steady employment.

"On Section 18, (Incentives) our position remains the same as I have discussed with you in our meetings. Our operations and production are far from such that incentive discussions would be appropriate for Cumberland.

No Excessive Costs

"As to Section 23, (Distribution of Overtime) our local agreement has resulted in few problems and records show that a good job of equitable distribution has been done. The spread of hours in overtime distribution units is quite reasonable. We do not have excessive costs due to bad practices, which are in effect at other plants.

"No one can deny that the argument on excessive manpower does not concern Cumberland. We have had no part in this argument.

"We have lived together under our own agreement on Section 27 (Control of Speeds) for two years. We have tried to increase production in an effort to bring our shipments up and our costs down so that we might be competitive with domestic and foreign producers. Where necessary we have added manpower to avoid hardships, and we have had no disagreements on this point. The company policy is and shall continue to be that we do not expect and will not condone any employee working under conditions which subject him to undue hardships.

Largest Wage Offer

"As far as wages are concerned with respect to the Cumberland plant, the company made an offer of a 12 cents per hour increase each year for two years which gives Cumberland more than any other plant involved in these negotiations and is a larger wage increase than has been given this year to any other Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant in any of its divisions.

"In regard to our local problems which have been mentioned to you, we have clarified these problems at a meeting on November 12 with your local representatives. We believe we will be able to resolve the great majority of them. There may be a few issues on which we cannot agree. We plan to have further meetings with your local representatives and will do our best to resolve the Cumberland problems.

"When and if the Cumberland plant will start operations again will depend on the action of its employees and their representatives. We are willing to do whatever may be reasonable and possible to end this strike and return to work at Cumberland."

Rooms Planned For Short Gap

The Short Gap Parent-Teacher Association met November 13. Joseph Powell, vice president, presided.

Jennings Whitacre, character and spiritual life chairman, led the devotions.

It was reported that Short Gap is to have added to its present building two classrooms and a large storage room. The boundary for transporting children to Short Gap will be extended on Route 28, north.

A committee was appointed to establish a proposed budget to take care of the daily needs of the office and to buy first aid equipment for each room. County Council reports were given.

A toy party followed the business meeting.

Agents To Hear Talk By Robinson

John J. Robinson, trust officer and vice president of the Liberty Trust Company, will speak on "Estate Conservation," emphasizing the role of life insurance, at a luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Association of Life Underwriters tomorrow at Central YMCA.

A native of Cumberland, Robinson began his banking career in 1918 with the Third National Bank here. His association with the Liberty Trust dates from the formation of the company in 1920. Robinson was elected assistant secretary and trust officer of the banking establishment in 1934, named treasurer and trust officer in 1940, and selected for his present position in 1946.

Robinson resides at 808 Edgewood Avenue. He has two children, Dr. John J. Robinson Jr. and Mrs. Virginia Robinson, both of this city.

Early Apple Marketed By Area Orchard

Red Variety Found To Be Popular, Official Reports

By C. A. LANCASTER
Evening Times Staff Writer

The favorable economic conditions existing in an early apple market have resulted in the development of a new red apple by Consolidated Orchards Company.

The company, one of the ten largest apple shippers in the nation, is making its marketing season earlier by using this early red variety, and at the same time is extending it into the following spring by use of refrigerated storage facilities.

Last week at the unveiling of the company's new packing equipment at its Paw Paw packing house and storage building, Henry Miller Jr., vice president and general manager, revealed the trend of the firm's marketing.

The company this year introduced for the first time an apple known as the Miller Red. It was first discovered eight years ago on the firm's Longview Orchard in Hampshire County.

Planted Many Trees

Since that time thousands of Miller Red trees have been planted on the company's Allegany County, and nearby West Virginia orchards.

There has been a demand in the apple industry for a high-colored, good eating summer apple, and this variety appears to be the answer.

The Appalachian orchard belt involving the Eastern Panhandle, Allegany and Washington Counties and part of northeastern Virginia is the southern-most major apple producing section.

Because of the earlier ripening in the season, this belt has been able to get its fruit on the market ahead of the northern orchardists.

Get Best Prices

The first commercial shipment of Miller Reds brought up to $7 for an extra-fancy bushel box pack in Pittsburgh.

Miller Reds have shown one particularly notable advantage over other summer varieties, being much firmer with excellent carrying quality and good shelf life.

When the original tree was discovered eight years ago, Consolidated quickly recognized its high value and began propagating the new apple by using bud wood from the original seedling tree to develop young trees in the company's nursery.

Sold In Pittsburgh

Because it is an unusually early bearing from time of planting, the trees started to produce this year.

All Miller Reds were distributed in Pittsburgh this summer, but as more trees come into bearing and the tonnage increases, they will be available to customers in other cities.

Miller also announced that the company, which has just installed new packing equipment termed the biggest improvement in the industry in the last 40 years, is planning additional cold storage facilities at Paw Paw.

Plantings over the past several years will eventually get to the company's production up to a half-million bushels a year and space will be needed to handle it.

Youth Will Face Larceny Charges

Robert M. McKee, 19, of Mill Road, will be charged on three counts of larceny by the State's Attorney's office.

McKee was questioned yesterday by Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator. He reportedly admitted stealing an old Army 38 calibre pistol from the home of Frank Foster, 460 Walnut Street.

Lilya said the man is also involved in several other theft cases.

Club Meets Today

The Allegany Camper Club will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at Allegany High School, according to John Yoder, president, who said plans for a pep rally on Thanksgiving Eve will be completed.

Coney Area To Get Japanese Doctor Soon

Dr. Mikio Kato Will Take State Board Exam December 10

LONA CONING — The Town of Lonaconing will have a new physician, Dr. Mikio Kato of Tangier Island, Va., providing he passes a Maryland State Board examination December 10.

A citizens' committee in charge of securing his services for the community of approximately 2,300 reported the Japanese doctor will come here December 13 to set up office quarters. Arrangements are being made for housing facilities.

A reception is planned for Dr. Kato and his wife, the former Miss Emma Sue Crockett, a member of one of the oldest families on Tangier Island in Chesapeake Bay.

The island and its 1,100 inhabitants had been without a doctor for several years before he arrived. They in April 1957 from Kobe, Japan. Shortly afterwards he married his secretary, Miss Crockett.

Dr. Kato, 35, received considerable newspaper and television publicity when he located at Tangier Island.

Search For Howard Iser Continued

The search for Howard Iser, 37-year-old local man who escaped from Allegany County Jail two weeks ago today, centers in nearby West Virginia.

Sheriff Edward R. Muir said his deputies went to Keyser yesterday to follow a tip that Iser was in that section.

While there, he said he heard over State Police radio that a man answering Iser's description was seen hitchhiking a ride on Route 28 in the vicinity of Fort Ashby.

A road block was set up by West Virginia State Police at Romney, but Sheriff Muir said this maneuver did not pan out.

The deputy sheriffs went into the Patterson Creek section today. Sheriff Muir said, where Iser was reported "holed up" in a cabin.

Iser was awaiting transfer to the Maryland Penitentiary when he escaped. He had been sentenced to ten years in prison for the armed robbery of William J. Cover in a lonely section of Shades Lane.

The other prisoner who saw his way out of the jail with Iser, Robert Charles Bryant, 18, also of this city, turned himself in several days after living in an abandoned house in South End.

Woman Falls From Son's Truck

A 53-year-old Flintstone area woman was injured this morning when she fell from a truck in which she was riding on Murley's Branch Road.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital was Florence Diber, 53, of RD 2, Flintstone, who sustained injuries to her hip, leg and right arm.

Attaches said the woman was a passenger in her son's truck when the door came open and she fell to the highway.

Attaches said the truck was making a left turn at the time of the mishap.

Woman Victim Of Gun Wound

A 33-year-old Barton woman in a "critical" condition at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, where she was admitted this morning with a gunshot wound.

Hospital attaches identified the woman as Mrs. Helen Ahern. She underwent emergency surgery after being admitted.

Maryland State Police said they received a call at 7:15 a. m. that a woman had been shot in Barton. Police said Mrs. Ahern sustained a gunshot wound in her stomach.

Boys Caught Letting Air Out Of Tires

Two 15-year-old Cumberland boys were caught in the act of letting air out of automobile tires last night on Winew Street and space will be needed to handle it.

Defective Kenneth Morrissey indicated the pair will be brought before Juvenile Magistrate Fred H. Anderson.

Defective Morrissey said complaints of such action have been received from all sections of the city, the most recent being Tuesday night in the Fort Hill High School area.

Television Plan Aired By Jaycees

A report on the plan for receiving ultra high frequency television in Cumberland was presented at a meeting of the Junior Association of Commerce last night, according to Edward F. Mullan Jr., president.

Action on the matter was deferred, Mullan said, pointing out that the association had investigated the possibility of supporting the plan some months ago.

Koerner, Zumpano Seek Area Scoring Title

Beall, Sentinel Backs Challenge Lions' Jones

Scoring more than half of his team's 134 points, half-back Gene Zumpano of Beall vaulted into the area scoring race and has a chance of giving the Frostburg Mountaineers their first point king since the revival of the sport at the school after World War II.

Zumpano, a five-eleven, 165-pounder, is currently third behind Larry Jones of West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney and runner-up Bill Koerner of Fort Hill.

Jones, with the Lions finishing as the only undefeated and untied team in the district, tallied 89 markers for the West Virginians on 14 touchdowns and five extra points. But his lead is not likely to hold.

One Game Remaining Koerner, the elusive Sentinel halfback who tied a district record with six touchdowns in the slambang battle against Westminster three weeks ago, is but five points behind Jones with 84 counters on 14 TDs. Koerner has one more game, the Turkey Day clash against Allegany, in which to add to his total.

Zumpano, with a dozen TDs and four extra points, has marked up 76 tallies for the Mountaineers. Gene has two more starts in his bid for the district honors, the Frostburgers meeting Handley of Winchester, Va., at home tomorrow night and then closing out against LaSalle on Thanksgiving Day in the Mountain City.

Bill Scott, towering Ridgeley end, is fourth with 75 points through 11 touchdowns and nine extra points while halfback John Frye of Petersburg ranks fifth with 60 counters on 10 six-pointers. Scott has already clinched the Potomac Valley Conference crown with 59 points, 17 more than runner-up Frye, with both Ridgeley and Petersburg having finished for the year.

Four other players have an outside chance for the area honors but would need outstanding performances to move in front. North Hagerstown's Dick Spencer had 54 points while the Sentinels' Donnie Lewis shows 53 with five TDs and the area tops in placement with 23. Allegany's "Baldy" Powell and Wayne Geisbert of Frederick both have racked up 48 points on eight touchdowns.

The Campers have two games, meeting Moorefield at the stadium tomorrow night, while the Cadets and Hubs close out their activity tomorrow in Hagerstown.

Tallies Four Times Zumpano ran his way into the scoring race with a four-touchdown performance against Petersburg last Friday as Beall racked the Vikings, 41-12. He had scored three times against Southern, twice in the Romney game, twice against Northern of Accident and got the lone six-pointer for Beall in the 6-6 draw with Charles Town.

Koerner, however, is apparently a cinch to nab two titles. He shows the way in the city chase with his 84 points and a bulge of 31 tallies over teammate Lewis.

North Hagerstown's Dick Spencer is Koerner's only apparent rival for CVAL honors with 48 tallies to the 66 marked up by Koerner. The Hubs end their season against Frederick tomorrow night.

Last season, Dalton Hillegas, Fort Hill halfback, took the "triple crown" with 96 points on 16 touchdowns for city and area honors. In the CVAL, for seven games, Hillegas chalked up 13 TDs for 78 tallies. Summaries:

Hoover, by the way, was a stellar end this year for John Carroll in football. He was also voted the outstanding player at Newport. For all his height and weight, he has amazing reflexes and moves with the ease of a much smaller player.

Don Burks, one of the spark-plugs of Molloy, is rated as one of the top candidates in New York state while little Vinnie Ernst, speed merchant of the St. Aloysius quint from Jersey City, and Gene Denahan of Trenton Catholic are high on the prospective list.

LaSalle will long remember Ernst, the pepper-pot, who led the final-half surge against the Explorers in the Rhode Island rounds. Although only five-eight, Ernst was all over the court and finished with 23 points to knock the locals out of the tourney as St. Aloysius posted a 63-50 victory.

Denahan was a defensive demon for Trenton Catholic in the top-sided, 74-49, rout of LaSalle in ESCIT's opening game.

Another eager who performed for host DeLaSalle in the ESCIT, six-three John Gibson, is rated one of the best cagers in the New England area and draws a nod for consideration nationally.

Bearcats Top Team Dell's magazine predicts that Cincinnati's Bearcats, led by the amazing Oscar Robertson, will finish as the nation's top team for 1958-59. West Virginia, rated No. 1 in both the AP and UPI polls last season, has been accorded the sixth position.

Not Pressing For Records Says Brown

By LARRY FRIEDMAN

CLEVELAND (AP)—Has Jimmie Brown slowed down in the last two Cleveland football games? "No, I don't think so," the 22-year-old fullback said. "At least I know I'm not doing anything different."

In Cleveland's first five games, the power-running Negro piled up 815 yards rushing and 14 touchdowns. In the two losses to the New York Giants and Detroit, Brown was limited to 113 yards and one TD, and 83 yards and no scores, respectively.

Near Season Records He was the National Football League's Rookie of the Year in 1957 when he led the league in rushing with 942 yards. Now, after seven games he has 1,011 yards and 15 touchdowns. The season records—both held by Steve Van Buren of the Philadelphia Eagles—are 1,146 yards and 18 touchdowns.

"I'm not pressing or thinking about any records," Brown said. "I just try to do my best every game. Those records will take care of themselves."

Packed With Power He is 6-foot-2, 228 pounds. His muscular body is packed with power from his 18-inch neck, massive shoulders, 32-inch waist, down to his steel-like thighs.

The something extra Jimmy has in comparison with most fullbacks is his speed and lightning start. Brown has completed in track (as a high jumper and discus thrower mostly) and in basketball and lacrosse (picked on an All-America team while at Syracuse), in addition to baseball and football. He probably is one of the few athletes to be given All-America recognition in two different sports.

Eats Anything Brown doesn't drink or smoke and eats whatever he feels like eating.

The Browns joshingly call him "Gabby." He is quiet and seemingly shy but answers questions intelligently and courteously. He must realize he's the hottest attraction in pro football, but Jimmy Brown hasn't lost his poise. He's got both feet on the ground.

Where Is He Now?

Mowers Selling Car Insurance

By United Press International John A. Mowers generally is rated the best of the Detroit Red Wings goalies in the days before and during part of World War II. He hit the peak of greatness on successive nights on April 7-8 in 1933 when he shut out the Boston Bruins twice on Boston ice to lead the Red Wings to the Stanley Cup. That year Mowers won the Vezina Trophy.

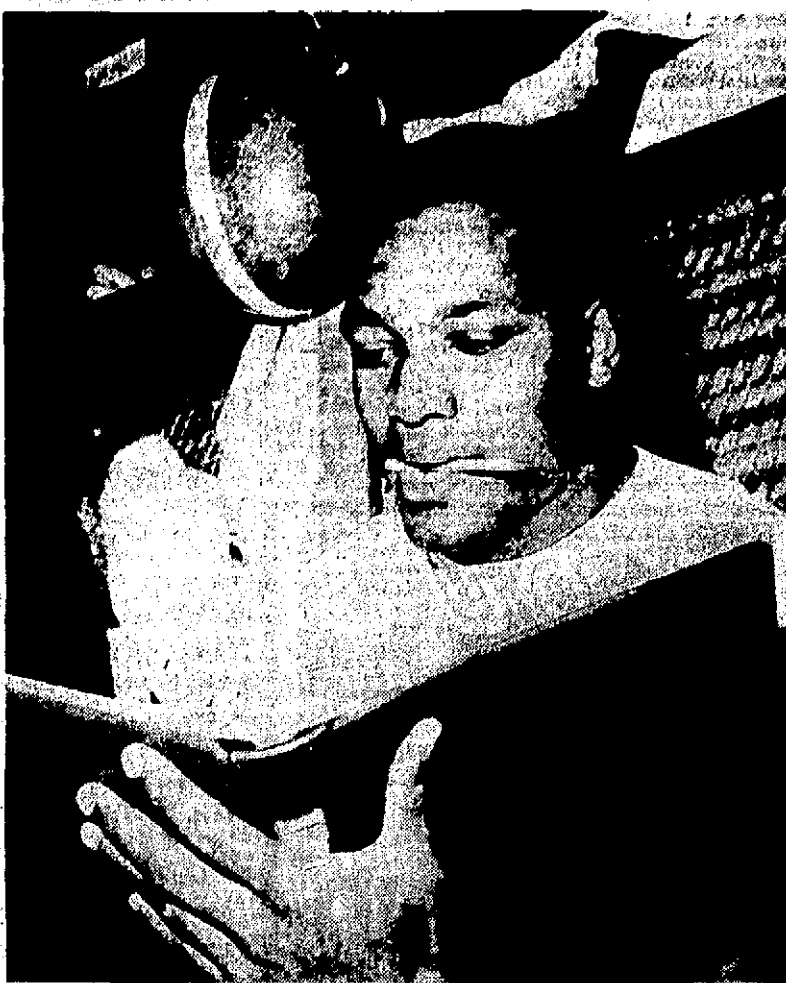

Whatever happened to Johnny Mowers? At 41, he has settled in Detroit where he is an insurance representative for the Automobile Club of Detroit.

Willie Harnatz Gets Suspension

LAUREL, Md. (UPI)—Willie Harnatz started serving a 20-day suspension today for his rough ride aboard Tudor Era in Tuesday's Washington D.C. International.

The action was announced Wednesday by the Laurel stewards, who charged Harnatz with "shutting off Sailor's Guide entering the stretch" in the International.

Sailor's Guide finished 3 1/2 lengths behind Tudor Era but was awarded the victory when the stewards upheld a foul claim made by Howard Grant, who rode the Australian horse. Tudor Era was disqualified to second place.

Pimlico Fall Race Session Opens Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pimlico Race Track opens its fall meeting today with the inaugural $7,500 Breeders Stakes for 2-year-old Maryland-born thoroughbreds.

The Breeders is one of eight stakes worth a total of $300,000 on tap for owners during the 30-day season which will continue through Dec. 17, the latest closing day in Maryland turf history.

Weather Is Question Weather is the big question. Last fall Pimlico lost five racing days because of snow, ice and cold. Two of these days have been included in the current meeting.

The other three days were taken at Laurel which closed its fall session yesterday.

Total wagering during the last meet was $15,084,725 for a daily average of $1,077,480.

Among the Pimlico stakes races, The Futurity on Nov. 22 is the biggest from a money standpoint. It will gross more than $170,000 with $125,000 going to the winner. That's a record in Maryland.

Special Set Nov. 29 Another high spot is the $50,000 Special on Nov. 29. It's drawing power is uncertain because the probable starters haven't been determined. It's a weight-for-age event at a mile and three-sixteenths.

The eight entries in today's feature are being tested for the first time at a mile and a sixteenth. The feature Saturday is the $15,000 Marguerite Stakes for 2-year-old fillies.

The other stakes are the $20,000 Gallonette on Nov. 27, the $10,000 Jennings the next day, the $10,000 Extremalor on Dec. 6 and the $10,000 Pimlico Cup on Dec. 13.

Dick Longfellow Moves To Third In Offense Race

NEW YORK (UPI)—West Virginia's Dick Longfellow has moved into third place in the race for individual offense honors in college football.

The senior quarterback accounted for 167 yards passing and rushing last week against Penn State to push his total offense accumulation to 994. He was fourth a week earlier.

Back in the lead in total offense is Billy Holsclaw, another West Virginian but playing for Virginia Tech. Holsclaw moved ahead for the third time in five weeks in the see-saw battle with a total of 1,090 yards after gaining 130 yards against Richmond.

Second was Charlie Milstead of Texas A&M, with 1,004 yards. He was injured in last week's game with SAU and slipped out of the lead.

Longfellow's 63 pass completions—which have gained 765 yards—is seventh highest in the nation. Ralph Kunsacker of Arizona is the new passing leader with 77 completions.

Terps' Shaffer Tied For Second In Receptions

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—If Virginia's Ulmo (Sonny) Randle can catch one more touchdown pass and pick up 19 more yards in receptions in his final two games—against South Carolina and Maryland—he will own all but one of the Atlantic Coast Conference's passing records.

Randle already has written new records for most passes caught in a single game (nine) and most passes caught in a single season (30), and has tied the record for most scoring passes caught in a single season (five). In addition, with 431 yards in receptions, he is on the brink of breaking the season reception-yardage record of 449 yards set by Clemson's Dreher Gaskin in 1953.

Al Goldstein of North Carolina and Ron Shaffer of Maryland are tied for runner-up honors to Randle in receiving, each with 18 catches.

Odds Differ On Panthers

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Everyone agrees the Pitt Panthers are overwhelming favorites to register their sixth victory of the season against Nebraska Saturday but the oddsmakers have failed to agree on points.

One pool sheet lists the Panthers as a 20-point favorite, another had 19 points and a third said 26.

The Cornhuskers who are hosts at Lincoln, Neb., to the Panthers have lost their last five games. Last year Pitt thumped Nebraska 34-0.

Nobody is talking out loud about bowl bids but the Panthers are keeping their fingers crossed until after the Nebraska and Penn State games.

End Art Goh, who suffered a mild concussion in the Panther victory over Notre Dame last Saturday, was released from Mercy Hospital Tuesday but has not reported to practice. Quarterback Ivan Tonic appeared to be at top speed after recovering from a sore neck.

Army Won't Play In Any Bowl Game

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army is not going to play in any post-season football bowl games regardless of its record.

Lt. Gen. Gar Davidson, superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy and former head football coach at West Point, Wednesday put a firm and official stamp of disapproval on post-season games by the Cadets.

The Cadets, who have won six and tied one of their seven games, have been under consideration by several bowl selection committees.

Royals Learn Hard Way In NBA Circuit

By The Associated Press Cincinnati's kids are learning the pro game the hard way in the National Basketball Assn. The rookie Royals have lost six straight.

They've won only one of eight this season after Wednesday night's 116-115 defeat by the Syracuse Nationals, who trailed by 11 at the half. It was the only game scheduled.

They're losing by less. None of their other defeats was that close. If it hadn't been for Dolph Schayes' 30 points in the second half, which set three Cincinnati Gardens records, the losing streak might have been forgotten.

Even Schayes wasn't enough for the Nats. They needed Larry Costello's stolon ball basket with four seconds left to win it, moving within a half game of first place New York in the Eastern Division. The Royals are last in the Western, but they're only four games out of first.

Schayes, who tied Cincinnati's Jack Twyman for scoring honors with 32, bettered the Cincinnati scoring record for one half set just last Sunday by Philadelphia's Paul Arizin with 26. Schayes' 12-for-12 at the foul line in the last quarter broke the 9-for-11 record he held with Detroit's George Yardley. His 18 points in the final period bettered the record of 17 held by three players.

Negro Youth Chosen

WEIRTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Personable Tommy Bloom, a Negro, was chosen Wednesday as "Mr. Football" of 1958 by the predominant white student body at Weirton High School.

Bloom, a halfback, was the team's leading ground gainer this season.

He was seriously injured in the next to last game and did not play in a 25-0 loss to Parkersburg that snapped the Red Riders' 21 game winning streak.

Mont Will Gamble On 'Inexperience'

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The pressure to win has dictated his use of his most experienced football players at the University of Maryland, claims Coach Tommy Mont.

They haven't been good enough and lost six of eight games, so Mont figures he might as well "gamble." He plans to give some of his less experienced but promising players more of a chance at Miami Friday night and Virginia Nov. 22.

Among the foremost are quarterback Dick Scarbath and end Ed Becker.

Mont says he would have played them more "long ago if we were not expected to win every game." "But when you take over a job when you're on top, as we did after replacing Jim Tatum in 1956, the pressure on you to win is much greater. You can't gamble with unproven boys."

Scarbath, whose brother Jack was an All-America at Maryland, has shown a talent for passing and punting in his appearances usually late in the game. He's from Baltimore.

Becker, from Quakertown, Pa., was termed a sensational catcher in pre-season practice. He'll start while Scarbath moves up from third to second string quarterback.

A third sophomore, halfback Bob Gallagher of Pittsburgh also is being primed to be turned loose after carrying the ball only seven times so far.

The Terps, upon their arrival in Miami today, will find their opponent has experienced a similar sad season. Miami has been able to beat only Baylor in six games.

Both teams had been expected to have had far better seasons.

WVU Ends Drills For W & M Tilt

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia University wound up practice sessions today and prepared to depart Friday for Williamsburg, Va., and a Southern Conference encounter Saturday with William & Mary.

Coach Art Lewis announced sophomore guard Glen Bowman would be inserted in the starting lineup in place of the injured J. D. Miller. Lewis also said he would stick with junior end Ben McComb at a terminal post.

McComb had been praised by the coaching staff for his play, especially his blocking, in the 14-14 tie with Penn State last week. A West Virginia victory Saturday would give the Mountaineers their fifth league title in six years.

Air Academy In Contention For Bowl Bid

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—The U. S. Air Force Academy may turn out its first unbeaten football team before it graduates a class.

Coach Ben Marlins' Falcons may even get a bowl bid. If they do, they'll probably accept. In that case, the academy would be the only team without old grads to cheer them to victory on New Year's Day.

The blue clad cadets from America's newest institution of higher learning are writing the story of the year in college football. They have only three games to go in order to complete an unbeaten season. Their remaining opponents are: Wyoming, New Mexico and Colorado.

The academy is so young its campus in the foothills of the Rockies north of Colorado Springs has not been completed. It doesn't have a football stadium. And, it has seniors on its football team for the first time since the academy became a reality in the fall of 1955.

Dark Horse In Havana Golf

By WILL GRIMLEY
HAVANA (AP)—Sam Snead is the favorite and Julius Boros is the over-priced dark horse in the $45,000 Havana International Golf tournament opening today.

Money backing Boros became a cascade when the phlegmatic Indian-faced professional went on the odds board at 10-1 to win, 5-1 to finish second and 3-1 to take third.

"This is a steal" said one, before placing a sizeable wager on the former National Open Champion from Southern Pines, N.C.

Boros, whose record in the National Open the last six years compares with that of Ben Hogan and Cary Middlecott, reported here fresh from victory in the Atlanta Open. He is playing top-flight confident golf and is hard to ignore.

Snead, who has won more than 100 tournaments and is perennial favorite in every one he enters, is short-priced at 4-1 to win, 2-1 for second and even money for third. If you want to bet Sam to finish fourth you must put up two dollars to win one.

Behind Snead on the favorites list comes Bill Casper Jr. of Chula Vista, Calif., second on the year's money list, at 6-1 followed by Dow Finsterwald, the Professional Golfers' Assn. champ, at 8-1.

Boros is bracketed with National Open champion Tommy Bolt at 10-1 and then comes a trio at 12-1—Doug Ford, 1957 Masters champion, Art Wall Jr. and Lionel Hebert, 1957 PGA king.

Other favorites include Bobby Locke, 1957 British Open champion, at 15-1; and Sam Torrance, 1957 British Open runner-up, at 20-1.

Turley Edges Spahn To Get Young Award

By BOB SALMON
BOSTON (UPI)—Bob Turley, whose strong right arm lifted the wobbling New York Yankees to three final victories for the World Series championship, has won the 1958 Cy Young Award as the major league pitcher of the year for his regular season work.

The Baseball Writers Association, which announced the award to the 28-year-old pitcher Wednesday night, voted at the end of regular season play, before the Yankee-Milwaukee Braves World Series.

Ironically, it is a wonder that Turley won the voting despite his 21-7 win-loss season record, which included 168 strikeouts and a 2.96 earned run average.

Four Votes For Spahn
Ten of the 15 voting baseball writers wanted to name a National League pitcher for the award. Warren Spahn of the Braves received four votes and his teammate Lew Burdette received three, as did Pittsburgh Pirate hurler Bob Friend.

The remaining five ballots were cast for Turley, the only American League pitcher to receive a vote. When notified of the award, Turley broke his usual midwestern calmness to say, "Hey, that's wonderful news. You always like to win an award like that one."

Turley, a native of Troy, Ill., now lives at Lutherville, Md., where he is the Cy Young Award manager. He said he would like to use the award to help his financial situation.

"This should sound pretty good when I come to New York to talk contract," he said.

Greatest Season
The award paid tribute to the 215-pounder's greatest season in baseball, which reached its high tide in the World Series when he kept the Yankees "alive" with a fifth game, five-hit 7-0 shutout. He stroled from the bullpen in the seventh game to wipe out the last Brave batter for a 4-3 victory and pitched 6 2-3 innings of two-hit relief in winning the series-deciding seventh game.

But the quiet Turley won the award for his regular season play, in which he pitched 245 innings, giving up only 178 hits. He started 31 games and completed 19. He pitched two one-hitters and six shutouts.

Other Giant newcomers in the starting line are guards Bob Mischak, a rookie from Army, and Al Barry, former Green Bay Packer.

The Giants (5-2) and the Steelers (3-4) may attract 40,000 Sunday if the weather is favorable. The home crowd attendance record of 39,075 was set on Oct. 23, 1954 when the Cleveland Browns played at Forbes Field.

Day In Sports
Washington for the Southern Conference honors while the University of Maryland's Terps are to battle it out with North Carolina and North Carolina State for Atlantic Coast Conference laurels.

Sensational Jerry West, last year's sophomore standout with the Mountaineers, is billed as sure-fire All-American material and placed with Cincinnati's Robertson on the select five. The rest of the squad has Notre Dame's Tom Hawkins, Bob Boozer of Kansas State and Bailey Howell of Mississippi State.

Of West, the publication states: "West does so many things, and does them so well on the hardwood floor, that it is hard to remember that he was only a sophomore last year and still hasn't realized all of his tremendous potential."

Potomac State fans still have fond memories of Gene Guarilia when he was tossing the ball in the basket at a rapid pace for the Catamounts just a few years back. Now with George Washington, and a senior, Guarilia has been picked as center on the All-South squad.

Dell says of Guarilia: "A powerful 220-pounder who stands 6-6 and when he comes muscling in for a rebound or to sink a layup he is a hard man to stop. He was named to the All-Southern Conference first team and led the league in rebounding while averaging 15.8 points per game."

Maryland's Charles McNeil was given a first-team berth on the All-South. McNeil set a sophomore scoring record last year for the Terps of coach H. A. "Bud" Millikan with 401 total points and a 13.8 average while shooting at a 44.2 per cent clip.

Undeclared Gridders
Rate Top Firemen
ATCHISON, Kan. (AP)—The undefeated and undefeated football team of St. Benedict's (9-0) scored again Wednesday when they turned firemen and saved the home of John Savory.

Near the end of practice the players heard a couple of students yell fire. They rushed to Savory's home a block away and quickly extinguished the fire.

One player quoted St. Benedict's coach Ivan Schollert: "Best team I've ever seen. You guys have shown all season."

Green September Sophs Now Mature On Gridiron

By JACK CLARK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Those green September sophomores, their inexperience matching their off-time unpredictable play, are coming of age. In some cases they have turned into one-man wrecking crews on college gridirons each Saturday.

Dick Thornton, Northwestern quarterback, and Willo Fleming, Iowa's halfback, are two good examples.

Thornton, look over the quarterbacking of Northwestern's Wildcats, and steered them to four straight victories, and an overall 5-2 record so far. This was basically the same club that lost all its games in 1957.

Best QB in Big Ten
The 19-year-old dental student has been tagged the best quarterback in the Big Ten over such stalwarts as Iowa's Randy Duncan and Ohio State's Frank Kreibitz. He was chosen as Back of the Week by The Associated Press for passing for two touchdowns, kicking one point after touchdown and passing for two more in the Wildcats 21-0 victory over Ohio State two weeks ago.

Fleming, a skinny 178 pounds, nudged into the Big Ten champs backfield and added the power that the Hawks needed when Capt. John Nocera was hobbled with injuries. He has scored four touchdowns in the last two games, all on runs of more than 47 yards.

Down South they are talking about Norm Snead, the sopho quarterback of the Wake Forest Deacons. He made his mark early, throwing three touchdown passes Sept. 20 when the Deacons romped against Maryland 34-0.

Snead was busy Wednesday as Coach Paul Amen had his offense working on a strong passing attack for Saturday's game with Duke.

Maye Sparks Falcons
Richie Mayo has guided the Air Force Academy into bowl contention with six victories and a tie with Iowa. His biggest day came Nov. 1 when he took the Falcons on a 72-yard touchdown march in the final two minutes that brought a 33-29 victory over Oklahoma State. Mayo completed seven passes during that jaunt.

Up at Harvard, Charlie Ravenel, the Crimson's daredevil, quarterback, has the Ivy League coaches raving. His offensive prowess was proven when he scored two TDs, one on a 52-yard run, and set up a third in a 20-0 victory over Lehigh last month.

Notre Dame had good luck with two of its fledglings. Bill "Red" Mack gained a berth in the Irish backfield and is the fastest man of the team. He gained 123 yards last Saturday in a losing cause against Pitt on the receiving end of George Izo's passes. One was a 75-yard play that set up a TD.

Center Myron Pottios, lost for the season with a shoulder separation, beat out letterman Bob Scholz for the job in September and bulwarked the Notre Dame line until injured against Pitt.

Bonko Fills Role
Army found a suitable replacement for fullback Harry Walters when he missed two games with a bum ankle. Don Bonko, a third classmen or soph, took over the chores in a 14-1 tie with Pitt and

Beaten Ryff Not Planning To Quit Ring

CHICAGO (UPI)—Lightweight Frankie Ryff, his championship hopes shattered by speedy Eddie Perkins, shrugged off blistered feet and a possible broken hand today and said he had no plans to abandon his dream of some day winning a boxing crown.

"I've got no illibis for losing," he said, "he beat me. I wasn't as shifty as I usually am, and when you know you've got a bad hand, well, maybe you don't punch the way you usually do."

Ryff, who lost for the sixth time in 33 fights, wasn't effective against Perkins, a Chicagoan making his first TV appearance. The New Yorker was floored for a two count by a right hook in the second round and his handlers blamed the defeat on that mishap.

"It wasn't a knockdown," his manager, Barney Ross, his trainer, Whitley Binsteln, and Ryff himself said. "He got caught with a sucker punch after a lead and slipped at the same time."

But referee Frank Sikora, who gave Perkins a 45-44 edge in scoring, and Perkins' camp had no doubt of the event. "It was a good right hook," Perkins said, "except it was just a little high on the head."

Home On Weekend
JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—The Johnstown Jets will be at home for two Eastern Hockey League games this coming weekend. Saturday at 8:15 p.m. they'll meet the Charlotte Clippers. Last year's pennant winners and Sunday (3 p.m.) they are slated to entertain the Washington Presidents, one of the roughest clubs in the circuit.

Schoendienst Awaits Word On TB Tests
ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Second baseman Red Schoendienst of the Milwaukee Braves rested in Mount St. Rose Tubercular Hospital today awaiting the outcome of tuberculosis tests.

The red-headed player was suspected of suffering from tuberculosis.

Schoendienst entered St. John's Hospital here with a respiratory ailment last Saturday and officials announced Tuesday night that he might be afflicted with T.B.

Dr. Raymond P. Martin, Schoendienst's physician, said it was decided to transfer the colorful ball player from St. John's to the tubercular hospital where better facilities were available. Such a move, Martin said, was "standard operating procedure" for patients suspected of tuberculosis.

"Besides," Martin added, "he will be able to get complete rest at Mount St. Rose."

One test of Schoendienst's sputum has proved to be negative, Martin said. But the sputum also was injected into a guinea pig which is more susceptible to the T.B. germs. Results of the guinea pig test, however, won't be known for some time.

Although Martin said Schoendienst appeared "run down," his general condition was good.

Dave Hibbert Iowa, Notre Dame, Bears Nation's Top Pass Catcher

NEW YORK (AP)—When Arizona's Dave Hibbert snared 12 forward passes for 107 yards against Texas Tech Saturday, he became the best catcher in major college football.

Hibbert, 5-foot-9 halfback from Phoenix, has caught 46 passes, 10 more than his closest competitor, Ullma Randle of Virginia, who led a week ago. He has accounted for 25.6 per cent of Arizona's total offense.

Best In Six Years
When the Arizona ace went on his spree against Texas Tech, he turned in the best record since Fordham's Ed Brown nabbed 15 passes against New York University six years ago.

The real hot spot among the pass catchers isn't even ranked among the top 10 because the National College Athletic Bureau rates them by number of catches. Although Rich Kreitling of Illinois is 18th on the list at that basis, his yardage of 616 on only 18 catches is the best.

Kreitling's average per catch is 34.2. If he keeps it up, it will be a record. The best so far was the 28.6 yard average by Ellery Williams of Santa Clara in 1948.

Stars Against Michigan
Kreitling sparked Saturday against Michigan when he caught three for 137 yards and three touchdowns. His catches for the year account for 55.6 per cent of Illinois' passing game and 31.3 per cent of its total offense.

The top touchdown pass catchers are Bob Simmons of Rutgers and Don Black of New Mexico, each with seven.

Bob Walden of Georgia leads the punters for the fifth straight week. His average for 28 punts is 45.4 yards. Georgia Tech's Joe Delany is second at 43.5.

Randle Tops In Kickoffs
Dave Hackbart of Wisconsin still tops the nation in punt returns with gains totaling 193 yards and Virginia's Randle is first with 363 yards in kickoff runbacks. Rutgers' Billy Austin shows the way in scoring with 72 points.

There was a new leader in the "do everything" department after an injury sidelined Charley Milstead of Texas A&M. Northwestern's Dick Thornton took over as the busiest back. He has been involved in 239 plays in 7 games including 88 rushes, 85 passes, 3 interceptions, 7 punt returns, 4 kickoff runbacks, 34 punts and 17 after touchdown attempts.

Iowa, Notre Dame, Bears Get Victory Nod By Fraley

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Fraley's follies and the weekend football "winners"—while talking things over in the huddle.

Iowa over Ohio State—This may be closer than the eight points by which Iowa is favored, figuring on a slight letdown after wrapping up the Big 10 title. But Iowa still appears to have the horses to do the job.

The East
Syracuse over Colgate—That big tackle's murdering me. Cornell over Dartmouth—Run the play through the other side. Princeton over Yale—So we lost five more yards.

Brown over Harvard—Ain't we playin' for fun? Also: Penn over Columbia, Boston College over Boston U., Army over Villanova, Navy over George Washington, Penn State over Holy Cross, Buffalo over Lehigh, Rutgers over Quantico and Delaware over Bucknell.

The Midwest
Notre Dame over North Carolina—Waddaya mean I'm not blocking? Northwestern over Purdue—How can I block siffin' on the ground? Michigan over Indiana—I don't see you getting past that tackle. Wisconsin over Illinois—See what I mean?

Also: Michigan State over Minnesota, Oklahoma over Missouri, Pitt over Nebraska, Oklahoma State over Kansas, Kansas State over Iowa State and Cincinnati over Marquette.

The West
California over Washington—That guy is made out of iron. Oregon State over Stanford—Go ahead, put in a substitute. Oregon over UCLA—I'd rather be on the bench.

Air Force over Wyoming—He won't make All-American against me. Also: Washington State over COP, Colorado over Utah, Idaho over Utah State, Brigham Young over Denver and Colorado State over New Mexico.

The South
LSU over Mississippi State—So I got flattened again. Mississippi over Tennessee—I tell you he's tough.

Auburn over Georgia—Waddaya mean he's not that good? Georgia Tech over Alabama—Somebody better watch the referee.

Also: Clemson over North Carolina State, Vanderbilt over Tulane, Duke over Wake Forest, Florida over Arkansas State, Kentucky over Xavier, Miami over Maryland, South Carolina over Virginia and West Virginia over William & Mary.

The Southwest
TCU over Texas—That's all, I've had it. SMU over Texas A&M—So we're penalized 15 yards.

Tulsa over Texas Tech—We didn't have a chance, anyhow. Also: Hardin Simmons over West Texas State, Texas Western over Arizona and Houston over North Texas State.

The Pros
Chicago Bears over Baltimore, Philadelphia over Chicago Cards, Cleveland over Washington, Los Angeles over Green Bay, Pittsburgh over New York and Detroit over San Francisco.

Eddie Arcaro has won the Preakness Special four times. The veteran jockey won with Chaldean, Shut Out, Assault and Citation.

PTA Condemns Movie Ads; Seen As Forecast

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It probably didn't cause a ripple in the motion picture industry that the Erwin Street School PTA of Van Nuys, Calif., passed a resolution condemning the current movie ads.

But it's a straw in the wind, Hollywood. The film ads seem to some parents to be going overboard in stressing the sensational and horrific. Any film with even a hint of sex is hailed as a saga of "primitive passions" and "youth gone wild." Where will it all end?

Another curiosity to me is the misrepresentation in some ads. I suppose it is considered good salesmanship, but it makes you wonder.

Take "The Last Hurrah" is another example. It's a fascinating study of Boston politics. Some of the ads feature Jeffrey Hunter and Diane Foster in a warm embrace and the blurb hint of a hot romance. The truth is that they are married in the film and the sex content in the script is nil.

Also, the billboards show Spencer Tracy as red-haired instead of white-thatched as he appears in the picture. Is this because white-haired old men might not appeal to the young audience?

Take a look at the "Damn Yankees" ads. You'd never get the impression that the picture was about baseball. Reason: Baseball pictures are traditionally bad losers at the box office.

The latest quandary for the ad men is "A Nun's Story." They realize that religious subjects fail to attract part of the movie going audience. So how can they camouflage this one?

Latest of the "adult" films is "Separate Tables" which a stellar cast plays in fine style. A tale of the sexual frustrations of a troubled quartet, it is fascinating if blatantly theatrical. Leave the kiddies at home. Best job is turned by in David Niven, who submerges his charming self in the lonely fraud of an army officer.

Ali Baba Poor Television Fare

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ali Baba and his 40 thieves, a troupe that has somehow managed to elude the grasp of Ed Sullivan, turned up Wednesday night on NBC-TV's "Shirley Temple's Storybook."

"What good can come of gold acquired in this manner?" asked a character at one point in the proceedings and it struck me the question might more fittingly have been put to the packagers of last night's 60-minute bomb.

To get specific and nasty about it, much of the acting was awkward, the dialogue absurd; the settings shantytown and the direction aimless. To get general but also nasty, it was dull, dull, dull.

Incidentally, I counted 41 murders in "Ali Baba" over the course of the evening which averages out to one stiff every 88 seconds. It was a nice change from all those violent old westerns.

Oscar Levant made his second appearance on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show" Wednesday night. His talk was not as sharply focused as on his first guest shot, but he still managed to fashion some disconnected talk several cuts above the usual TV chatter.

Some of it: "My appearance tonight is as misguided as Gerald L. K. Smith addressing a meeting of B'nai B'rith."

To Paar: "You have the most responsive audience since Adolf Hitler in the good old days."

"I was asked to go on 'This Is Your Life,' but they couldn't dig up one friend."

Of Eddie Fisher: "He's in love with Elizabeth Taylor—how high can you snoop? He, Debbie Reynolds, Liz Taylor and myself were going to do 'Private Lives' on 'Playhouse 90'."

Of Harry Truman: "I don't associate with him anymore. I'm a fair weather friend."

Of President Eisenhower: "I'm like President Eisenhower. Once I make up my mind, I'm full of decision."

Of sponsored TV: "It's like Ed Murrow's inverted humility or Prince Philip visiting the poor—it's necessary."

The Channel Swim: Robert Kintner, president of NBC-TV, has asked Steve Allen to consider expanding his one-hour Sunday show to 90 minutes. ABC-TV will expand the half-hour "Patti Page Show" to a full hour on Dec. 1 season. NBC-TV will resume its "Wisdom" series in January with Robert Moses as guest.

Jack Benny will guest on Jackie Gleason's CBS-TV show Jan. 23 and Gleason will guest on the Benny CBS-TV show Jan. 23. Benny's Nov. 30 show, which was filmed during the summer, will feature his wife, Mary Livingston who has since gone into retirement.

Election Of Rockefeller Shows Change Of Public's Attitude In Name Once Feared And Hated

NEW YORK (AP) — Election of Nelson A. Rockefeller as governor of New York marks a complete revolution in the public attitude toward the family name. Half a century ago the name was feared and hated as a symbol of the ruthless power of Standard Oil, notorious in those years for cutthroat competition.

Nelson Rockefeller's grandfather, John Davison Rockefeller, was aware of this antipathy and engaged Ivy Lee, a public relations expert, to counter it. Before his death in 1937, John D. had won acceptance as one of the nation's great philanthropists.

This course was pursued by his son, John D. Jr., with such giant organizations as the Rockefeller Foundation and the Rockefeller Institute.

John D. Sr., in 1864 married Laura Spelman. They had four daughters—one of whom died in infancy—and a son, John D. Jr.

The son married Abby Aldrich, to John D. Jr., that the five sons appeared to be "measuring up". In the father replied "not a day pass" but Mrs. Rockefeller and 1 pray that they will continue measuring up.

The eldest son, John D. III, now 52, is active in the family philanthropies and business.

Nelson, 58, who has been board chairman of Rockefeller Center, announced he will resign that post when he takes over the governorship.

Laurance, 48, has been Nelson's No. 2 at Rockefeller Center and active in real estate development in the Virgin Islands.

Winthrop, 46, farms 3,000 acres in the Arkansas Ozarks and is chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

David, 43, is a vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

Sister Abby, 55, now Mrs. Jean Mause, has been active in the affairs of the Metropolitan Museum.

Loss of engineering and science talent at a senior level has reached serious proportions, reports President John T. Rettala of the Illinois Institute of Technology.
